

Terrorists Weaken In Long Showdown On Dutch Train

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Some of the South Moluccan nationalists holding more than 30 hostages aboard a stranded train in northern Holland are beginning to lose courage after defying the Dutch government for six days, the leader of the Moluccan community says.

"I could read from the faces of one or two that they do not want to go on," said Johan Alvares Manusama, president of the self-styled Republic of the Moluccas, after boarding the train Sunday to plead with the young gunmen to surrender.

But Manusama held out no hope of early capitulation by his compatriots who seized the train last Tuesday or another group of South Moluccans who occupied the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam last Thursday. The Moluccans at the consulate are holding about 20 hostages, including four children.

The gunmen are demanding that the Dutch government sponsor a drive in the United Nations to get Indonesia to give the South Molucca islands independence. The Dutch have no direct control over the policies of Indonesia, a former colony.

The Moluccans aboard the train have also demanded safe conduct out of the country, but the government refused because they killed three of their hostages.

Manusama said he told the men on the train "they had reached their goals, achieved publicity and the attention of the world, but I got the impression they still hope the government will give in sooner or later. I made it clear to them that the government would not."

The South Moluccas were one of the island groups in the preWorld War II Dutch East Indies that after the war sided with the Dutch against the Indonesian independence movement on Java and Sumatra. The Dutch recognized the independence of Indonesia in 1949, and thousands of South Moluccans fled to Holland after an unsuccessful rebellion in 1950.

A government spokesman said there "can be no question" of meeting the demands of the gunmen. He added that they were showing "a very primitive view" of what was politically possible.

Manusama said he had had no reply to a cable he sent to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim asking for the United Nations to take up the South Moluccans' demand for independence and also asking him to mediate in the two sieges.

A man and his wife in their 80s were released from the train Sunday, reducing the number of hostages there to 31, police said. They also said there were four Moluccans still aboard the train, but Manusama said there were six.

The couple said conditions in the crowded car in which all the hostages were being held were not unbearable, but it was cold at night and the captives were kept tied up.

Six Moluccans were reported holding four children and between 15 and 20 adults captive in the consulate. An attempt to negotiate for the release of the four children was planned today.

Thornton Wilder Dies; Famed Author

HAMDEN, Conn (AP) — Thornton Wilder, who wrote the theater classic "Our Town" and collected three Pulitzer prizes for his novels and plays, is dead of a heart attack at age 78.

The playwright, novelist, teacher and traveler died in his sleep Sunday while napping at the Hamden, Conn., house he shared with his sister, Isabel, a family spokesman said.

Wilder, who wrote numerous plays and eight novels in his half-century career, was brought to the Hospital of St. Raphael in nearby New Haven about 7:25 p.m. where he was pronounced dead.

Cathedral Of Tomorrow Pays Debts

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—Evangelist Rex Humbard says his Cathedral of Tomorrow plans to expand its ministry overseas now that it has put its financial house in order and divested itself of commercial operations.

In a rare news conference Sunday the minister confirmed that the cathedral had paid off more than $12 million in securities that had been questioned by government officials. He said all holders of bonds who asked for their money back were repaid.

Humbard said church representatives expect to meet soon with government attorneys to work out final disposition of state and federal court actions over the questioned securities, which had been sold to thousands of church supporters in the United States and Canada.

The only remaining question, Humbard said, is what will be done with $300,000 in securities not claimed by bondholders. It has been reported that the state may claim that money to meet legal costs in the case.

The minister said the planned expansion will include beaming radio broadcasts to Russian and Chinese listeners.

Taped radio and television broadcasts currently are heard and seen by 40 million persons, with broadcasts translated into French and Japanese languages, he said.

Humbard said the cathedral, which once operated a girdle factory and held commercial property in downtown Akron, has gotten out of all its commercial ventures and expects to sell its Mackinac, Mich., college campus next month.

In his financial disclosure, Humbard said cathedral assets now total about $13 million and debts total $10 million, including a $5.5 million mortgage held by the Teamsters pension fund.

Report Queen May Abdicate

LONDON (AP) — A London newspaper says that Queen Elizabeth, who will be 50 years old next April, may abdicate in favor of Prince Charles "within the next 10 or 15 years."

In a feature on the queen, the Sunday Mirror said that Elizabeth is at "an age when many people, however active they are in their work, begin to turn their thoughts toward retirement and what it entails."

Queen Elizabeth has been on the throne since 1952.

Amos Tappan Wilder, a nephew, said Wilder had been in poor health for several years but had continued to travel occasionally.

Wilder won his first Pulitzer in 1928 for the novel "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." The others were for the plays "Our Town" in 1938 and "The Skin of Our Teeth" in 1943.

He also wrote "The Matchmaker" which was turned into "Hello Dolly," the longest running Broadway musical. Wilder received in 1963 the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian citation, and was the first recipient of the National Book Committee's National Medal for Literature, which was presented at the White House in 1967. The latter honor was for his novel, "The Eighth Day."

Wilder completed his last book "Theophilus North" in October 1973. It was the story of a young man's adventures in the 1920s in the seacoast resort of Newport, R.I.

Thornton Niven Wilder was born April 17, 1897 in Madison, Wis., the second of five children of Amos Wilder, editor of a newspaper. When he was 9, his father was named consul general in Hong Kong and later Shanghai, and Wilder attended German and English schools in China. He later went to schools in California. His first literary effort was scribbled in an algebra book: "The Russian Princess, an Extravaganza."

Wilder studied at Oberlin College and spent a year in the Coast Guard before graduating from Yale in 1920. He taught French for several years before obtaining masters degree from Princeton in 1926.

He studied archeology in Rome and wrote his first novel, "The Cabala," about the city. It was published in 1926, the same year his first play, "The Trumpet Shall Sound," was produced.

In addition to his sister and nephew, Wilder is survived by a brother, Rev. Amos Niven Wilder, Hollis Professor of Divinity Emeritus at Harvard; three sisters, Charlotte of Brattleboro, Vt.; and Janet Wilder Dankin of Amherst, Mass.; and a niece, Katharine Dix Wilder of New Haven.

A memorial service will be announced later. Burial will be private.

Compromise Sought On Tax Cut Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight between President Ford and Congress that could mean higher taxes for most Americans next month may be resolved in a way that would allow both sides to save face.

The answer may become evident Wednesday when the Senate Finance Committee begins work on a House-passed bill carrying $13 billion in individual tax cuts, mainly extensions of

Senate Faces Filibustering On N.Y.C. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate faces more filibustering as it decides whether to come up with $2.3 billion to pay for the emergency loans to New York City that the lawmakers authorized over the weekend.

The actual money is contained in a $10.3-billion supplemental appropriations bill before the Senate today.

The bill authorizing the federal loans, but not appropriating the money, was approved 57 to 30 by the Senate early Saturday. The House had approved the loan earlier in the week following President Ford's statement that he would sign such a bill.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., who opposes the aid plan, tied up the Senate for 14 hours Friday before it passed the loan authorization bill. He has promised another filibuster against the money bill.

Senate leaders already have filed a cloture petition to end debate on the motion to bring the money bill to the floor. Sixty votes are required to end debate.

Allen has two other opportunities to filibuster: when the legislation actually comes up on the Senate floor and when the conference report on the measure goes to the Senate after the House finishes work on it.

Over the weekend, Allen said he is not trying to hurt New York with his parliamentary moves.

"In all sincerity, I'm not trying to embarrass New York on this thing ... The Senate hasn't had a chance to shape the bill," he said. "It's not a question of whether they're going to get the money, but when."

Even if a filibuster fails, the money bill probably cannot make its way through both the Senate and the House by the tentative default deadline of Thursday when millions of dollars of city bonds are due.

Stevens Nomination Taken Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress takes up the nomination of John Paul Stevens to the Supreme Court, all signs point to his confirmation to succeed retired Justice William O. Douglas.

In advance of today's open hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he planned a brief executive session to discuss the handling of tax returns and financial and health statements submitted by Stevens.

Some members want Stevens' state and federal income tax returns for the last 10 years and his financial statement to be analyzed by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., the committee's ranking minority member, said it was neither necessary nor desirable "to farm out" its responsibility to another panel. He said the Judiciary Committee was "perfectly capable" of handling it, while referring the material to the other committee would just slow the confirmation proceedings.

Stevens, now a judge on the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, has been nominated by President Ford to fill the Supreme Court vacancy left by Douglas' retirement on Nov. 12 because of ill health.

The nomination was submitted to the Senate a week ago. Ford urged prompt confirmation so the court can be brought to full strength.

Although Judiciary Committee members seem favorably disposed to the nomination, some have questioned whether it can be brought to a Senate floor vote before Congress adjourns within the next two weeks.

tax cuts in effect this year.

Unless that bill becomes law by the end of the month, most Americans will see their takehome pay reduced starting in January.

Meanwhile, as Congress begins what is expected to be the next-to-last week of the 1975 session, both houses will devote time to New York City's financial problems. The House will consider a bill to amend the bankruptcy laws to facilitate handling of the city's debts in case of default. The Senate will consider an appropriations bill that includes $2.3 billion earmarked to pay for federal loans to New York already authorized by Congress.

Later in the week, the House will vote on the final version of an energy bill. Although the measure does not go as far toward U.S. energy independence as Ford has asked, his chief energy adviser, Frank G. Zarb, has urged that he sign it. Zarb told the Washington Post that he will remain in office even if Ford rejects his advice.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, is opening hearings into the nomination of Judge John Paul Stevens of Chicago to succeed retired Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. No senator has indicated opposition to Stevens, who is Ford's first nominee to the high court.

On the issue of tax cuts, Ford and Congress agree on the need for extending the cuts that went into effect last spring. But the President says he will veto any tax cut that is not tied to a lid on government spending in the fiscal year that begins next Oct. 1.

Democratic leaders insist it is not practical to set spending levels 10 months in advance. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has indicated he may go along with a plan that would extend the tax cuts for only three or four months, rather than for the full year. Then, at the end of that period, Congress conceivably could agree to the spending limitation and renew the tax cut for the rest of the year.

Such a compromise might be acceptable to Ford and thus avert another veto confrontation with the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Beirut Paralyzed By Fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heavy fighting between Beirut's Moslem and Christian armies paralyzed the Lebanese capital today for the second successive day.

The government warned residents to stay off the streets and closed schools and all public offices.

There were savage rocket and mortar duels during the night between the Christian stronghold of Ein Rumanneh and the neighboring Moslem area of Chiyah, one of the chief battlegrounds in the eight-month-old civil war.

There was small-arms and rocket fire all morning in several other areas, including the middle-class Qantari district and the seaside hotel area that was the center of fighting three weeks ago.

Heavy explosions from shoulder-fired grenades boomed out there and in the downtown commercial center near the palm-fringed Martyr's Square that was once the center of Middle East commerce.

The outgunned, outnumbered security forces stayed out of the combat zones, and there was no accurate estimate of casualties.

For seven hours, firemen were unable to get to a fire in the fuel oil tanks of the Qantari building housing the offices of The Associated Press. They worked their way in by late

Pickaway Homemakers Plan To Aid Arthritis Sufferers

By MARION SINES
Herald Society Editor

A new service for Pickaway County residents who suffer from arthritis will soon be available through the efforts of Pickaway Homemakers Extension Club.

An organizational meeting was held Thursday evening under the direction of Robert W. Lincoln, executive director of Central Ohio Chapter, The Arthritis Foundation, in the home of Dee Dawson, 830 N. Court St.

Named as coordinator for Pickaway County and chairman of the Arthritis Volunteer Action Committee (AVAC) and district board member was Judy Bartels, a registered nurse. She will be assisted by Dee Dawson, president of Pickaway Homemakers.

Pamphlets for information to the public will be placed at strategic places and Sharon Eyerman of Pickaway Information and Referral Service will have names of clinics, arthritis specialists and methods of transportation available. Arthritis Clinics for both those able to pay for treatment and those who are medically indigent are located in Columbus. Mrs. Eyerman will make appointment upon referral of a local physician.

Lincoln told his audience that there are 25 counties in the Central Ohio District with headquarters in Columbus. The Foundation has been in existence for the past 28 years and is endeavoring to spread its service of information wherever possible.

Ten per cent of the population in the United States suffer from Arthritis with half having Osteoarthritis and the other half Rheumatoid Arthritis. The former is mostly among the older age bracket and the latter in young people. There are actually 100 different kinds of the disease with only one that can be fatal. Others cause pain, and others crippling along with the pain. A new medication for Osteoarthritis is finding favor with physicians in the United States while many cases of Arthritis are alleviated or cured with surgery. Lincoln said that three times as many women as men have the disease.

Included in the pamphlets is information of the Arthritis Foundation, kinds of Arthritis, manual for Allied Health Professionals, Arthritis in children, basic facts, home care programs and Arthritis quackery.

The basic aim of the foundation is to provide information and community service.

An equipment loan program provides articles needed for the different kinds and stages of Arthritis which are provided to the patient as requested by his physician. These include special crutches, chairs, exercise tools, grooming devices, wheelchairs, and others for special cases.

Rock Hudson is national Campaign Chairman for this year. Films and speakers from Columbus will be provided for meetings of service organizations and clubs.

The next meeting of Pickaway County Chapter will be held 8 p.m., Jan. 8, in the home of Judy Bartels, 120 Park St.

Fog, Rain In Southeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fog and rain moved into North Carolina, Maryland and Virginia on a low pressure center from the south today. The fog cut into visibility.

The only other major area of precipitation this morning was in the Pacific Northwest, where rain was triggered by a stationary frontal system. The precipitation reached from Oregon and Washington into the northern Rockies. A smaller area of light snow flurries covered North Dakota.

Most of New England, dominated by a high pressure system, had clear skies. Other large areas without clouds included parts of Texas through the southern Rockies and the intermountain region.

Mild temperatures, mostly in the 60s and upper 50s, prevailed over the Southeast from South Carolina to Florida. The Florida Keys had readings in the low 70s.

Temperature extremes over the nation ranged from 72 at Key West, Fla. to 3 below zero at Gunnison, Colo.

OHIO—

Cloudy with occasional light snow likely tonight and Tuesday mixed at times with rain southeast and extreme south. Low tonight in upper 20s and low 30s. High Tuesday in the 30s.

Cloudy skies across Ohio today were expected to keep the temperatures down. Readings weren't expected to climb much above the mid 30s in the north to the 40s south.

The morning weather map showed a system of high pressure ranging from New England west to Illinois. This high was weakening slowly as a low pressure over Georgia develops and moves northeastward.

Some light snow was expected tonight and Tuesday over northwestern Ohio, with light snow or rain over the southeastern section.

Skies were partly cloudy to overcast across the state overnight, and no snow or rain has been reported in the past 24 hours. Early this morning, temperatures ranged from a chilly 20 in Youngstown to the low 30s along the Ohio River from Cincinnati to Chesapeake.

Looking ahead, the outlook calls for a return to fair weather on Wednesday, with temperatures about normal for early December.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged down sluggishly today following last week's head-long slide caused by uncertainty over the future of the business recovery.

After two hours of trading, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 2.21 at 816.59, and stocks losing value led those gaining 767 to 362 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow lost 41.87 to 818.80 last week, its biggest weekly drop in a year.

"The market may now look back over last week and mull over the fact that the news wasn't that bad, that unemployment was down," said Monte Gordon, a Dreyfus Corp. analyst.

Most active on the NYSE was Caterpillar Tractor, down 5/8 at 655. The exchange's composite index of all common stocks dropped 0.09 to 45.75. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index had gained .50 to 81.90 after two hours.

Report Reveals License Invalid

An August plane flight that crashed at the Pickaway County Airport, killing a Stoutsville man, should never have left the ground, according to an investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board in Chicago.

Although a probable cause has not been determined for the plane falling out of control into a wheat field Aug. 24 and all other information is quoted as only preliminary information, NTSB officials indicated that the pilot license of Charles Fletcher, 54, Route 4, was invalid.

As a result of the accident, David Valentine, 33, Route 1, Stoutsville, was killed and Fletcher suffered critical injuries.

Witnesses said the single-engine Taylorcraft had made a mock bombing run over the County Airport Aug. 24 where it dropped a bag full of sand during an air show.

They said the plane began a gradual turn, went out of control and plunged to the ground.

According to James Constantine of the Public Inquiry Section, NTSB in Washington D. C., no probable cause has been determined for the crash and that the report will not be completed for several months.

At the time of the crash, the plane had not had a required annual inspection since Sept. 19, 1973, according to Constantine's reports taken from the plane's log book.

Newspaper Heir Stabbed To Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police are looking for three men they believe robbed and stabbed to death John Shively Knight III, newspaper editor and grandson of the founder of the Knight publishing empire.

Knight, 30, was found tied up and stabbed five times Sunday morning on a bedroom floor in his luxury apartment overlooking Rittenhouse Square. One of two house guests was also stabbed as she tried to escape from the robbers.

Police Capt. Donald Patterson of homicide said the assailants are believed to have spent almost four hours in the 23rd story apartment, carefully searching and ransacking the five rooms.

He would not say what may have been stolen from the apartment. Knight had an extensive modern art collection.

Knight was found with his hands bound behind his back with some of his own neckties, detectives said.

Police said the death weapon was either a spear gun or a Bowie knife. Knight, a sportsman, had both in his apartment, and both were found there afterwards.

Several persons were brought into police headquarters for questioning early today, but there were no arrests, police said.

Yale University Hospital psychiatrist Dr. John McKinnon, 29, who was Knight's roommate at Harvard, and his wife, Rosemary McKinnon, 27, were asleep in the apartment when the intruders entered, police said.

Mrs. McKinnon was stabbed in her chest and hand by one of the assailants, who chased her down a long corridor and onto an elevator when she tried to escape.

Police said she staggered off the elelevator at the third floor, and the assailant continued to the first floor. Police said they did not know if anyone saw the man leave the building.

Mrs. McKinnon reached the lobby by a fire escape and summoned help. She was taken to Graduate Hospital and listed in fair condition.

According to police, Knight and a date, Ellen Roche, the McKinnons and a third couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Janensch, dined Saturday night at a Society Hill restaurant.

Janensch, managing editor of the Daily News, a Knight-Ridder paper where Knight was project director, said he and his wife drove home at 12:20 a.m. Sunday, and the other four returned to Knight's apartment.

He said Miss Roche told him she left sometime after one o'clock.

Mrs. McKinnon told police she had gone to bed, leaving both men talking about college days over a bottle of brandy. She said her husband came to bed sometime afterward.

Police said Mrs. McKinnon told them she was awakened around 4 a.m. by doors slamming, and a man armed with a revolver came into the bedroom. Although she was nude, the intruders did not molest her but allowed her to dress and left her tied up on the floor.

She told police she saw three men in the apartment.

Mrs. McKinnon was left alone for some time, apparently while the men searched the apartment. Police said she managed to free herself and wake up her husband, who was groggy from the drinking, and when the gunman returned, she grabbed his weapon and threw it to her husband.

While her husband struggled with the man over the gun, Mrs. McKinnon fled the apartment. McKinnon was not injured, and the outcome of the struggle was not immediately known.

Court Report Released

A report of the activities of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court shows a total of 72 new cases were filed during the month of November. During the month, the court terminated 52 cases leaving a total of 279 pending cases at the end of the month. There were 331 pending cases at the beginning of November.

Cases by type that were filed are as follows: Three personal injury suits, 28 criminal cases, 34 domestic relation actions and seven others.

There were three personal injury cases, two appropriations, 18 criminal cases, 18 domestic relation suits and 11 other cases terminated in November.

The majority of the cases terminated were done so by default. Three court trials and three pre-trials were held during the month. The court also dismissed 18 other cases, terminated 25 by default, and transferred three to other courts or judges.

Domestic relation actions are the most numerous of the cases left pending on the court's docket. There are 134 of these cases, 36 personal injury cases, two workmen's compensation actions, two appropriations and 62 others left to hear.

Fletcher was operating under a student pilot third class medical certificate which prohibits the pilot from carrying passengers, according to Jack Harrington of NTSB. However, the student pilot certificate was also invalid because it contained erroneous information on the medical certificate.

According to FFA records, Fletcher first applied for a student pilot third class medical certificate Jan. 8, 1973, which was denied because of a previous diagnosis of a heart condition. In a reapplication Jan. 17, 1975, Fletcher's form "reflected no previous medical denials". By an FFA letter dated Feb. 24, 1975, the medical certificate was denied because of falsification of the application. This application listed 210 hours logged total flight time with 25 hours accumulated within the preceding six months. The pilot logbooks were not located.

Valentine, acting as the "bomber" possessed a student pilot's certificate and third class medical certificate issued June 14, 1975. According to the airport operator's records, he had accumulated 14 hours dual and two hours solo flight time.

Harrington also added that these separate conditions "may not have had an effect on the accident," he said, "but the NTSB report was not a statement of probable cause." "These are just possible areas to look into in the investigation," he added.

CLINTON, N.J. (AP) — Bob Dylan. Allen Ginsberg. Joan Baez.

They all went to a small prison auditorium Sunday to publicize the cause of Rubin "Hurricane" Carter, a former boxer seeking a new trial on his conviction of murdering three men in 1966.

Poet Ginsberg, who sang in the program, said before the concert, "There was a sense that protest was dead in the artistic community. But this concert tonight is a symbolic sense of the 1970's commitment."

Singer Joan Baez said, "I think this is the greatest chance any of us will have to show our real artistic concern."

Carter, a middleweight boxing contender in the 1960s, and co-defendant John Artis are serving life sentences for three murders in a bar robbery in Paterson, N.J. Both asked for a new trial earlier this year after two prosecution witnesses recanted their testimony.

Dylan brings his Rolling Thunder Revue to New York tonight for a benefit concert for Carter.

Celebrities Give Time For Carter

CLINTON, N.J. (AP) — Bob Dylan. Allen Ginsberg. Joan Baez.

They all went to a small prison auditorium Sunday to publicize the cause of Rubin "Hurricane" Carter, a former boxer seeking a new trial on his conviction of murdering three men in 1966.

Poet Ginsberg, who sang in the program, said before the concert, "There was a sense that protest was dead in the artistic community. But this concert tonight is a symbolic sense of the 1970's commitment."

Singer Joan Baez said, "I think this is the greatest chance any of us will have to show our real artistic concern."

Carter, a middleweight boxing contender in the 1960s, and co-defendant John Artis are serving life sentences for three murders in a bar robbery in Paterson, N.J. Both asked for a new trial earlier this year after two prosecution witnesses recanted their testimony.

Dylan brings his Rolling Thunder Revue to New York tonight for a benefit concert for Carter.

Series Of Blasts Probed By Lawmen

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A series of weekend bombings and dynamite explosions — including a blast that went off in front of sheriff's deputies on their way to pick up a man for questioning — continued under investigation by federal and local explosives experts today.

No one was injured in the explosions.

An agent of the federal alcohol, tobacco and firearms unit of the Treasury Department, said there was evidence that four bombings in the Youngstown-Warren area in a 2½-hour period early Sunday were the work of one person.

The first explosion was early Saturday at the Booby Trap Lounge in Youngstown, where police said an explosive had been placed on the roof.

Sunday morning bombings hit three suburban residences and the Aetna Freight Co. in Warren.

A Mahoning County sheriff's lieutenant said those blasts and a Sunday afternoon explosion in Ellsworth Township, southwest of here, could have been related.

However, one federal investigator said he doubted that the four Sunday morning bombings were linked to the other incidents.

Deputies said the dynamite blast in Ellsworth Township came as deputies approached the trailer home where Edwin Miller, 33, lived. Deputies said they were about 150 feet from the trailer when the dynamite blast erupted.

Deputies were trying to pick Miller up for questioning in the slaying of his mother-in-law, Mildred Smith, 66.

Mrs. Smith's body was found in the kitchen of her Enon Valley, Pa., home Saturday, and authorities there said she died, apparently Friday, of a multiple skull fracture, shock and massive internal hemorrhaging.

Authorities said Miller was divorced last week.

Teenage Alcoholism

Certainly results of the survey conducted for the National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism on the subject of teenage drinking contained some eye openers even for parents who know there is a problem. Conducted by the Research Triangle Institute, the survey found 28 per cent of the teenagers in the United States to be problem drinkers.

These were defined as teenagers who admitted to being drunk at least four times in the past year or said their drinking brought them difficulties with peers or superiors at least twice a year. Despite the fact the lowest legal drinking age in any state is 18, the survey found only 18 per cent of 17-year-olds never have taken an alcoholic drink.

Only 38 per cent of the 13-year-olds queried said they never drank, while about one-fourth of that age group was classified as moderate drinkers. Overall, close to half the teenagers covered in the survey admitted they were drunk at least once in the last year.

All of which adds up to a mammoth problem. There have been numerous reports that alcohol abuse among youths was increasing, but few suggestions that the scope of the problem was as deep as the survey indicates.

From Charlie Chan

By JIM BISHOP

Dear Boss: Don't panic — this letter is from your dog. It is being dictated to a dog psychiatrist, Dr. Horatio Foddaboom. The doctor doesn't speak "dog" but he understands it.

Physically, I am in reasonably good health for an eight-year-old German shepherd. I am, if you will pardon the vanity, 95 pounds of golden fur and matching eyes.

The reason I sneaked off to see Dr. Foddaboom is that my blood pressure is elevated. I get so nervous I can't sleep in the afternoon. Sometimes I chew my nails up to the ankle.

Foddaboom had me on my back on his couch all one morning. I told him about my dreams — a black poodle with pink hair ribbons. I also dream of real honest-to-God bones.

He said the black poodle phantasy was okay, because he sometimes dozes dreaming of a black poodle. The bones are wrong for me because nobody eats bones. The splinters could cut my throat.

In my depressed state, I have thought I would like to cut my throat, boss. It is not my fault that people have everything backwards. When I came to your house as a pup, I adopted you. You and the blonde you call Kelly insist that you adopted me.

You are wrong, wrong, wrong. I rise to ask one question: Who protects whom? If a burglar walked into our house, the best you could do is to turn on a sickly smile and mumble, "Hello."

I would be a mass of venomous teeth, rising hackles, a fury of attack. Let's face it, Boss. You are 165 pounds of jello. Lemon colored. One of us must have guts.

That isn't what's bugging me. It's a series of small things. I resent the morning petting I get. This will shock you, I know, but a dog should have a few rights — and to pet or not to pet is one.

I don't think you realize how repulsive you look when you creep out of that bedroom. Your face leaks down your chin. The white hair is in your eyes. You sit to your coffee and one hand reaches absentmindedly to pet me.

Twice you almost knocked my eyes out. Also you are heavy-handed. You pet like a man flattening a grave. The missus — "Sweetheart" because I am not her sweetheart.

My name is Charlie Chan. A German shepherd can never be a winner with a handle like that, but I'm struck with it. You see, when a dog goes to live with people, he gives up his own kind.

He doesn't live with dogs, he exists to please two-legged monsters. I don't even care about being mated anymore. You tried it once. I was a gentleman. I carried a cookie to her.

When I dropped it at her feet, the broad became hysterical and bit me on the head. Two stitches. This, I assure you, will turn a guy off for a long while.

Foddaboom says that the main reason for my nervousness is doing tricks for you and Kelly. You gave me a rubber cruller when I was a baby. I cannot understand why this dumb thing has to be my life companion.

When you throw it, I'm supposed to catch it. Would you like to try this little trick on your teeth? You also ask me to "speak." When I respond with my normal manly bark you say, "Shut up." You can't have it two ways, Boss.

I am not permitted to get up on beds, couches, chairs. When I sleep, it must be in the bathroom with a weight scale for a pillow. Would you like to change places with me just once?

You complain that I do not bark when anyone approached the lawn. You whacked my behind and said nobody was out there.

My hearing is 10 times better than yours. If burglars didn't hear my basso profundo long before they reached a door or window, you'd have been ripped off, kid.

Most of all, I beg you not to ask me to feel playful when you feel playful. I am tired of having to romp and crouch and jump when you're in the mood.

One more thing. Please be reasonable when you get a bill from Dr. Foddaboom. I'm a nervous wreck. Yours — oh, God, yes — yours, Charlie Chan . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An authority on corporate personnel matters says industry is irritating an increasing number of wives and the corporate world must seek a truce or face defeat.

As Eugene Jennings says it, business is overmatched. It cannot meet its challenges if it continues to offend the wives. Literally, he feels, enough unhappy wives can undermine industry.

Jennings, a management professor at Michigan State University who is also an author and counselor to top corporate executives, says the reason is that future management men cannot be developed without the support of wives.

Basic to his argument is the observation, proven over the years, that industry best trains its managers, at least in part, by testing them in various jobs in many parts of the corporation. Usually this requires geographical mobility.

Geographical mobility means the uprooting of the family every few years — new homes, schools, churches, clubs, friends, activities. For the man, his career compensates. For the wife there are few personal rewards.

A mobile manager is most effective when he has a wife willing to make these sacrifices for his career. For many years this has been so; the wives have been willing to stay home and make the sacrifices.

"In the 1960s and before, the vast majority of mobile managers had wives who were homemakers," said Jennings, who began his pioneer studies of corporate mobility in the late 1940s. "Nine of 10 mobile managers in their early 30s had wives who were homemakers."

Now, however, the ratio is down to 6 in 10. "The women are becoming less and less supportive of the husbands' mobility," Jennings explained. They are seeking their own identities. Many pursue their own careers.

Seeking the explanation, Jennings spent many weekends with managers and their wives. His conclusion: "The real issue, as the mobile wives perceive it, is social inequity."

The worst injustice encountered by the wife who stays home to take care of the family is to see her husband surpassed by a career woman who sends her kids out to a day care center.

"While the homemaker is pursuing the traditional responsibilities of giving tender loving care to the family and home, another woman captures the brass ring, even though neglecting her family responsibilities," said Jennings.

"There is no wrath like that of a mobile wife when her husband is beaten out by a woman of this type."

Adding to the homemaker's rage is the fact that some career women can obtain a tax deduction for child care costs. But, asks Jennings, can the homemaker, whose work is equally important, do so? No.

As the children grow older and often more expensive, the disadvantage of a single income becomes painful to the wife who stays at home. She sees her career counterpart able to afford a considerably higher living standard.

Public Works Bill Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate late Friday night passed a $9.548 billion public works appropriation bill for the 15 months ending Sept. 30, 1976.

The total exceeds President Ford's budget by $208 million and is $222.6 million more than voted by the House in June.

The 81-5 Senate vote sent the bill to a conference with the House to adjust differences.

Funding is included in the bill for scores of flood control and navigation projects of the Army Corps of Engineers and irrigation and water supply projects of the Bureau of Reclamation.

The largest agency total is $5.15 billion for programs and activities of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), including nuclear energy development and the production of nuclear weapons.

Funding is included for activities of the Interior Department's power marketing agency, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Before final passage, the Senate adopted 52 to 31 an amendment by Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, to add $35 million for fiscal 1976 to the $66.7 million ERDA budget for solar energy development.

An amendment by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., to eliminate $2,545,000 earmarked for the Dickey-Lincoln hydroelectric project in Maine was defeated 73 to 13.

Ohio's first senators were Thomas Worthington of Chillicothe, Ohio, and John Smith of Cincinnati, a Baptist minister who later was forced to resign when, although innocent, he was believed involved in the schemes of Aaron Burr.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I get corns on my little toes. They incapacitate me. My chiropodist says there is a new kind of treatment for them with silicone. Is this safe?

Miss H.B., N.C.

Dear Miss B.:

A corn is nature's protective device when constant pressure is made on the area by a poor-fitting shoe.

It must be remembered that loose-fitting shoes can be responsible, as well as tight-fitting shoes.

In a recent edition of the Archives of Dermatology, published by the American Medical Association, an interesting new form of treatment was suggested. Dr. S. W. Balkin, of Los Angeles, has been using injections of liquid silicone to relieve the severe pain of corns and calluses.

This may be the form of treatment that you refer to. It must be noted that in the article it is stated, "The silicone used by Dr. Balkin was obtained in 1963 prior to the Food and Drug Administration regulations and ban on shipments of the product."

Dr. Balkin says, "The material is not generally available for use by physicians at this time."

You should, under the circumstances, concentrate on protecting your feet with properly fitting shoes and foam pads, in order to reduce your "miseries."

The tips of my fingers have been getting thicker over the years. My brother had the same thing when he was my age. I am 52.

Mr. E.E.R., W.Va.

Dear Mr. R.:

There may be some hereditary factor. Yet I do believe that this condition, known as "clubbing" of the fingers, should be investigated from another point of view.

A relationship exists between clubbing of the fingers and chronic lung conditions. Bronchitis, emphysema, and bronchiectasis have been known to be associated with clubbing of the fingers.

This is easy to check by X-ray and general examination.

Is there a special age when a child born with cleft palate should have an operation?

Mrs. J.D., Iowa

Dear Mrs. D.:

Remarkably delicate operations are now being performed by "microscopic" surgery for cleft palate and harelip.

The advances of modern anesthesia make the operation a very safe one, even at the earliest age. The choice of time varies with the individual child and the judgment of the surgeon.

Israeli Arms Sales Growing Bigger

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel has become a major exporter of arms, ranking itself with Switzerland, Italy and Sweden in the sale of weapons to foreign governments, a senior defense official says.

The arms industry is one of Israel's largest employers, with tens of thousands of workers manufacturing everything from small ammunition to jet fighters.

The locally made Uzi submachine gun, for example, is sold to more than 60 countries. One of the customers is the United States Secret Service which guards President Ford.

According to the Defense Department official, who asked not to be identified, Israel "exports arms to every continent" and helps equip 19 foreign armies.

Officials, however, say that U.S. military aid, such as the $1.8 billion which Israel expects this year, could never be replaced by local production.

With sophisticated weapons systems being supplied to the Arab states by the big powers, Israel can't hope to become self-sufficient in its defense needs, the officials say.

"In talking about the arms industry there is a built-in contradiction," says one official. "On the one hand we must be discreet and on the other we have to promote exports."

Statistics in the industry are a military secret, so there are no official production or export figures. But some sources say Israel will wind up selling about $200 million worth of arms to foreign countries this year and future orders on the books amount to more than $500 million.

"We only sell arms to governments," one official says. "Every transaction must be approved politically and from a security point of view."

Most weapons manufactured in Israel have some American components, says an official and "we only sell these items to countries that have been approved of by the United States."

Pair Fights Extradition To Ohio

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The attorney for two grandparents says Florida Gov. Reubin Askew misinterpreted law when he ordered the couple extradited to Ohio to face kidnapping charges.

George A. Vega, a Naples lawyer, said Nelson and Elizabeth Kelber, who contend they fled here to protect their grandson's safety, will continue to fight returning to Ohio in an adoption hearing and a habeas corpus hearing Dec. 15 in Collier County Circuit Court.

Askew said in a letter to Vega that it was his duty to honor Ohio's request, although he sympathized with the "unfortunate circumstances" which led to the Kelbers' flight to Florida.

Vega said he would not criticize Askew, but felt he made a mistake in his interpretation of the law.

"The governor has a strong sense of duty and feels it's his duty to return the Kelbers to Ohio but I don't read the law that way," Vega said. "My God, if that was the case, we would still have slavery because Ohio would have sent back all the escaped slaves."

Kelber, 57, and his wife, 55, fled from Ohio last year with Harvey Kelber, 10, moving through Michigan and Tennessee before settling in Naples.

A court awarded them custody of the child nine years ago after his father, Harvey Sr., was convicted of beating the child when he suffered two broken legs, rib and skull fractures and a torn windpipe.

Buckeye Lake south of Newark was one of the reservoirs feeding the old Ohio Canal system.

Encephalitis Rise Noted

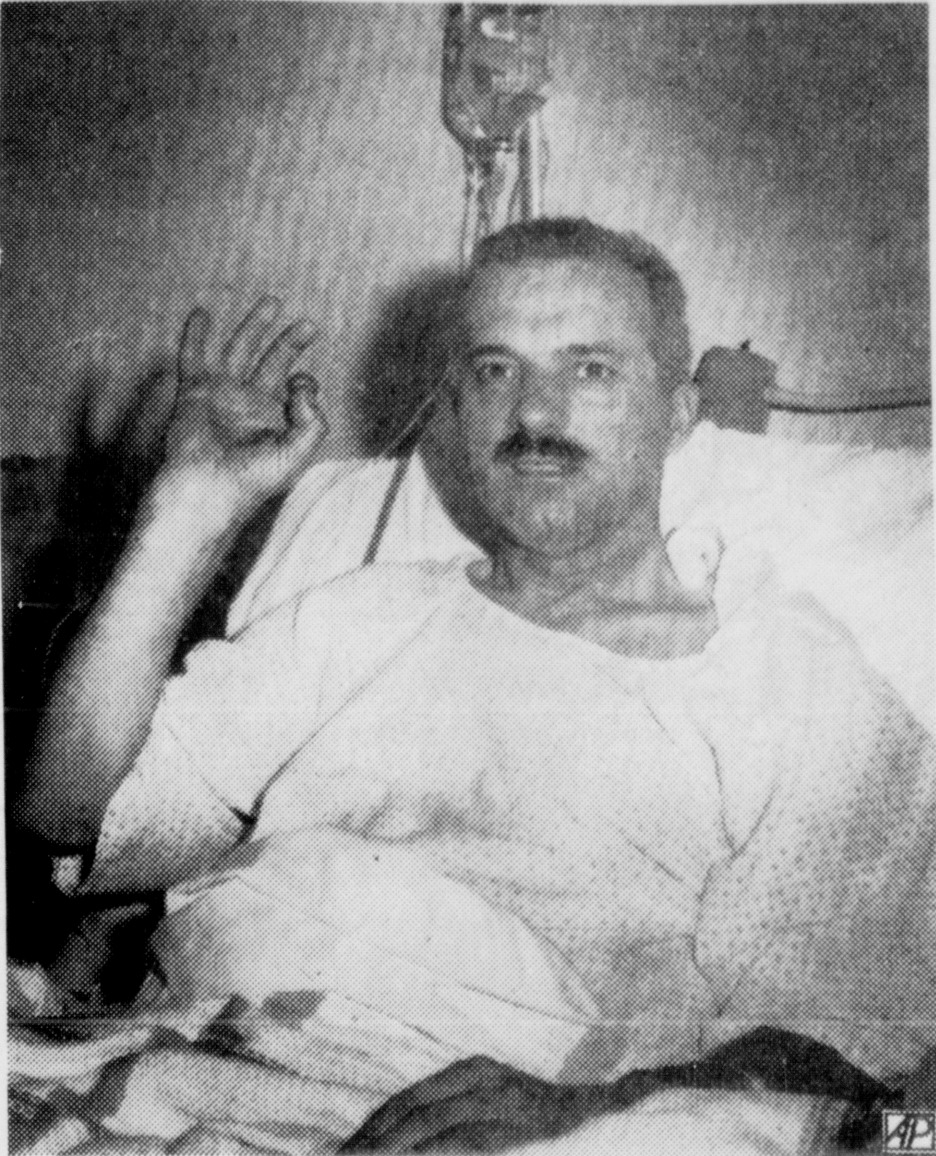

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A total of 375 confirmed cases of encephalitis was reported in Ohio this year, and the state Department of Health has announced steps to cut down on outbreaks next summer.

Dr. John Ackerman said surveillance and mosquito control will be implemented to contain outbreaks of St. Louis encephalitis. He said mosquitoes will be collected from 14 as yet undetermined sites across the state.

The insects will be frozen in dry ice and shipped to the Ohio Department of Health laboratory for inoculation into tissue culture, Ackerman said.

Collections will be made every two weeks from June 1 through Sept. 30. Animals which spread the disease to humans also will be surveyed, he said.

Ackerman said next summer's plans also include provisions for the milder California encephalitis, which usually is more common in northern states.

SURVIVES ON RAW RABBITS — Theodoros Kladia, 42, of Detroit, is in a hospital in Alpena, Mich., after being lost for three days in the woods. He said he survived on raw rabbits he caught with his hands. He is in good condition, except for frostbitten toes and swollen feet.

11 Persons Killed On Ohio Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eleven persons died in Ohio weekend traffic accidents, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today.

Girl, 12, For Levy

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A junior high school student voted for a city school levy in November to help the tax proposal pass, a hearing was told Friday.

The 12-year-old girl, who made the statement through an attorney at a hearing by the Lucas County Board of Elections, said she voted after a younger girl promoting the tax proposal outside the polling place made a dare.

The 7.5 mill levy failed. Melvin Resnick, chief assistant county prosecutor, says the girl likely faces juvenile delinquency charges.

The girl's mother, who returned the girl to the polling place after booth workers discovered the action, said the youngster was concerned because rejection of the school levy would force city schools to close. They are still operating.

At a hearing, the girl said she walked up to the official with the voter registration cards, was asked some questions and signed a poll book, proceeded to vote and then left.

However, the presiding poll worker disagreed with the girl's statement, saying she gave an erroneous name. Another poll worker testified the girl gave only her last name and agreed to a first name when asked. A third official heard a full name given. Two others were unsure.

The dead included two men killed when their cars collided Saturday on a Summit County road, one pedestrian and one motorcyclist.

The 11 deaths compare with 15 over the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY
GIRARD — Anthony Filaccio, 45, Girard, in a one-car accident in Girard.

NEW PHILADELPHIA — Shirley Hockenberry 19, of Tuscarawas County, in a two-car accident in New Philadelphia.

CLEVELAND — Estelle Ewell, 54, of Cleveland, in a one-car accident on a city street.

SATURDAY
AKRON — Gary M. Larson, 33; and Gary M. Russell, 26, both of Akron, when their cars collided on a Summit County road.

WILMINGTON — Gary L. Noland, 27, of Blanchester, in a three-car accident on Ohio 730 in Clinton County.

LOGAN — Lois B. Ferrell, 59, of Columbus, in a two-car accident on U.S. 33 in Hocking County, just north of the Hocking-Athens county line.

FRIDAY NIGHT
GEORGETOWN — Robert A. Fitzpatrick, 18, of Winchester, in a one-car accident on Ohio 32 in Brown County.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE — Kathy L. Butcher, 25, of Washington Court House, as she walked across U.S. 62 in Fayette County.

CHILLICOTHE — Michael R. Long, 16, of Chillicothe, in a one-car accident on a Ross County road.

AURORA — David L. Kinford, 20, of Aurora, in a motorcycle accident on a city street.

Jailhouse Lawyers Discouraged By Courts

By RICHARD BENKE
Associated Press Writer

The odds are against them, the courts discourage them, and prosecutors and public defenders disapprove of their legal dabbling. Still, jailhouse lawyers are growing in large numbers.

They have something they want to say. They are broke and can't afford a lawyer. They don't like their court-appointed public counsel. They want to learn about the law. They have lots of time.

Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, convicted of attempting to assassinate President Ford, chose to represent herself "in propria persona," as lawbooks call being one's own attorney. The court heard her views on ecology and a variety of other subjects before the privilege was revoked.

Other notables handling their own cases have included Symbionese Liberation Army members Russell Little and Joseph Remiro, convicted of murdering Oakland Schools Supt. Marcus Foster; and former University of California philosophy professor Angela Davis, who was acquitted of murder charges stemming from allegations she supplied the gun used in a San Rafael, Calif., courtroom shootout.

Man Held For Income Tax Fraud

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Middletown, Ohio man, convicted of making numerous false dependent claims on his income tax, was remanded to the custody of the U.S. Marshal because it was such a "flagrant violation."

Bert Ferris was convicted of willfully supplying false and fraudulent information to his employer with regard to income tax withholding exemptions.

"This defendant set out on a deliberate course of avoiding the federal income tax laws for his own financial benefit and attempts to hide behind an asserted good faith motive objection to the federal income tax laws," said U.S. District Judge Timothy Hogan.

"If this court thought for one minute that he was in good faith he would not have been remanded to the custody of the U.S. Marshal."

Ferris was accused of claiming 15 allowances in March 4, 1974. Eight days afterwards, he filed a 1973 Ohio State income tax return in which he stated the number of exemptions was four. He claimed no deduction in his 1973 return.

"He complied with the Ohio law because he got a 65-cent refund. This is just what his good faith amounts to," Judge Hogan said.

Find Man Guilty Of Cop-Killing

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cleophus Collins was found guilty over the weekend of aggravated murder in the fatal shooting Aug. 27 of a plainclothes Cincinnati policeman.

A six-man, six-woman jury reached the verdict Saturday in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court after a day and a half of deliberations. Collins, a 52-year-old unemployed father of five, contended he shot in self defense after being confronted by two men with guns. Police officer William Loftin, 36, died from bullet wounds.

Collins was found innocent of a second charge of attempted aggravated murder. Loftin's partner, Claude Dell, was not injured in the exchange.

Judges prefer to keep such cases to a minimum, fearing too many will clog the court calendar with lengthy semi-competent legal wrangling.

"The court discourages it (self-representation)," said Joan McIntosh of the public defender's office in Fresno, Calif. "It puts the courts in the position of teaching defendants the law." In the past, jailhouse lawyers had to convince a judge they were competent to handle their own defense, but as a result of a ruling handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court last June, a defendant need only be warned of the possible consequences if he proceeds on his own without a lawyer.

"Now you can have it for wanting it," said Stuart R. Rappaport, chief of the trial division of the Los Angeles public defender's office. But he warned: "Almost anybody who represents himself is going to be convicted."

Since the Supreme Court ruled on June 30 that Anthony Pasquale Faretta of Los Angeles had the right to be his own attorney the number of jailhouse lawyers has tripled in Los Angeles County.

In other urban areas, the recent trend also has been toward more prisoner self-representation, according to a spot survey by The Associated Press. Cumulative nationwide figures were not available.

"It's very fair to say that more residents of state prisons are seeking (their own) court relief following their conviction than in past years," said a prison official in Massachusetts, where a prisoners rights suit three years ago resulted in the creation of law libraries in jails and prisons throughout the state.

Jailhouse lawyers interviewed complain that public defenders are overloaded with cases and go along too readily with judges and prosecutors in bargaining for a guilty plea by the client.

"A defendant is going to demand every right in court," said Los Angeles

County prisoner Dennis Rutherford. "I fired my lawyer, got a new hearing on my own and I won the issue that he lost."

"The public defender assumed I was guilty," said Joseph B. Garcia, 27, of Santa Monica, Calif., who got part of the robbery case against him dropped after firing his courtappointed lawyer.

"I made a deal and went to prison twice at the suggestion of the public defender. Never again," said Roy Newsome, 31, of Los Angeles, now on trial for escaping from a courthouse.

Rappaport denies he helps "railroad" defendants but agrees court-encouraged plea bargaining can undermine a defendant's confidence in his lawyer. "It compromises our position," he said. But he maintains jailhouse lawyers bring most of their troubles on themselves out of ignorance.

Some increase in prisoners' filing petitions, especially habeas corpus legal briefs asking release from custody, has been noted in New York, West Virginia, Missouri, Ohio and Nevada, although apparently no formal statistics on such cases are being kept.

The incidence of jailhouse lawyers in Illinois "mostly comes in political trials where someone wants to get his message across," said Henry Sheffler, an official with the Cook County public defender's office.

"I would guess political activist types charged with crimes will try to represent themselves because they want to interject whatever political ideology they have into the case — a forum for their own political beliefs," said Kenneth Wells, head of the public defender's office in Sacramento, Calif.

Most prisoners interviewed said they act as their own attorney for lack of money to hire private counsel.

"It's money," said Barry Mintzes, spokesman for the Michigan Department of Corrections. "Most of the inmates are able to file as indigents, so they don't have to pay court costs in filing."

The number of jailhouse lawyers in Los Angeles peaked at 55 following several court rulings favoring "pro per" defendants, those who represent themselves "in propria persona."

The boom ended when the Superior Court issued a memorandum of understanding cutting back on pro per privileges in 1972. Since the memorandum the number of inmates asking to represent themselves had fallen off substantially until the Faretta ruling last June.

Melva Wyche-Randall Teets Wed In Military Ceremony

Miss Melva Joyce Wyche and Cpl. Randall Teets exchanged wedding vows in a military wedding Nov. 23 at Faith Chapel Naval Support Activity Base in Long Beach, Calif.

Chaplain Gerald Wayne Black read the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Wyche of Burbank, Calif., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Weaver of Circleville, and Mr. Harry Teets also of Circleville.

Given in marriage by a friend, Mr. Murrell Lacey, the bride was attired in a gown of ice blue with an overlay of white lace. The bodice featured long organza and lace sleeves with ice blue cuffs, empire waistline and a stand up collar. Her veil was held by a camelot cap matching her gown. She carried a bouquet of miniature white roses, baby's breath and jack frost.

Mrs. James Glover was matron of honor, and Mrs. Judy Chaney and Miss Lavona Weaver of Circleville, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of pastel mint green, orange and beige, respectively and carried bouquets of pink carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

Flower girl was Miss Tanya Wyche. The little miss was dressed in a floor length gown of pink and carried a small basket of daisies. Her brother, Carl Wyche, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom's best man was Sgt. James Glover and Sgt. Jim Thornberg and FTM. 2 James MacDonald of Montana, served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a gown of white knit polyester and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige and gold knit skirt accented with a gold sweater. Both mothers wore shoulder corsages of pink carnations.

Upon leaving the chapel the bride and bridegroom were honored by a six-man color guard and sword detail.

A reception followed the ceremony at the new residence of the couple, 1068 Pacific Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

The new Mrs. Teets is a graduate of Valley High School, Albuquerque, N.M. Mr. Teets, a 1973 graduate of Logan Elm High School, is currently serving with the United States Marine Corps.

Holiday Party Held By Garden Club

The Parish House of Scioto Chapel United Methodist Church was decorated with holiday arrangements for the annual Christmas party of Solagua Garden Club at noon Friday.

The program was preceded with a carry-in dinner. Mrs. James Hott presented the reading "Christmas Prayer." Each member told a story of their childhood Christmases. Many told how their families observed Christmas Day and how family traditions began.

Gifts were exchanged by 14 members and three guests, Mrs. Nelson Florence, Mrs. Dean Haller and Miss Betsy Bears. Mrs. Haller was welcomed as a new member to the club.

The next regular meeting will be 1:30 p.m., Jan. 9, at the Ashville Coffee Shop.

Circle Plans Party

Circle 4 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church will have its Christmas party 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Service Center. Turkey will be furnished for the co-operative dinner.

Members will exchange gifts and bring a gift for their secret prayer partners. Co-leaders are Mrs. Donald Watson and Mrs. Judy Davis, and hostesses are Mrs. Cecil Andrews and Mrs. Eugene Siniff.

Correction

Roundtown Busy Bees Homemakers Extension Club will meet 11:30 a.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. C. C. Schwarz, 147 Watt St., and not 7:30 p.m. as published in Friday's edition of The Herald.

Yule Party Planned

Scioto Chapel Women's Society has scheduled its annual Christmas party for noon Thursday in the Parish House.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Wants To Bow Out Of Bizarre Wedding

DEAR ABBY: Our 24-year-old daughter, Phyllis, is getting married, and her plans are unbelievable.

In the first place, Phyllis and Rick have been living together for two years and they have a 4-month-old baby. Phyllis wants us to walk down the aisle with the baby in her arms and Rick by her side!

Phyllis' father and I have been divorced for 14 years, but Phyllis wants us to walk down the aisle together.

Then she's got my present husband and her father's present wife teamed up as a "couple" to walk down the aisle together. (Have you ever of anything so asinine?)

The wedding will be held in church

Pork chops, turnip puff, green beans, sliced tomatoes, chocolate cake, beverage.

TURNIP PUFF

Really delicious way to serve the rutabaga.

2 yellow turnips (each about 1 pound), pared and cut in 1-inch cubes (about 3 cups)

1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
¾ teaspoon pepper

Cover the rutabaga with about 1 inch of boiling water and add the salt; boil, covered, until tender — about 20 minutes. Drain well and mash. With a spoon beat in the butter, then the egg, sugar and pepper. Turn into a buttered 1-quart round casserole (about 6½ by 2½ inches). Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

COMPANY DINNER

Potato-stuffed duck, apple red cabbage, green peas, rolls, coffee, jelly, custard sauce.

Potato-Stuffed Duck

4½ to 5-pound duck
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup fine chopped onion
¼ cup finely chopped celery
4 medium (1¼ pounds) potatoes, cooked and riced but not packed down (4 cups)
2 slices bread, crumbed (¾ cup)
1 egg, slightly beaten
1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
1 teaspoon salt
pepper to taste

Thaw duck if frozen. In a small skillet in the hot butter cook the onion and celery until onion is golden-brown; mix with the remaining ingredients. Stuff into body and neck cavities of duck. Skewer body cavity closed; skewer neck skin to back; tie legs together. Roast according to your favorite directions. Makes 4 servings.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

and the kids are paying for everything. Phyllis and Rick wrote their own vows, and they claim the pastor approved all these plans. Can you believe it?

This wedding should take place in a zoo-not a church. I am happy that Phyllis is finally going to marry Rick, but do you think I should take part in this farce, or should I stay home with a migraine headache?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: Unconventional as the wedding may seem, it's the bride's day, and she may do things her way. Please don't get a migraine. Your daughter needs you, and you'd be missing one of the most unorthodox weddings of all time.

DEAR ABBY: This past year, my husband and I have entertained three couples for dinner in our home. Upon leaving, all have said, "We will have to have you over soon."

Well, "soon" never came with any of them.

When we accidentally run into them somewhere, they say, "We've been meaning to call you...."

Abby, these three couples get together often. We know because we see their cars parked in front of the homes of one or the other. However, none of them has made an effort to include us.

My husband says that I am foolish to stand on ceremonies-that as long as we enjoy their company (and we do) I should invite them back.

I think three invitations without being invited back is enough. I'd like your opinion.

ALWAYS THE HOSTESS

DEAR ALWAYS: I'm with you. One for one is the proper ratio, but two for none should be the absolute limit.

DEAR ABBY: Eleven years ago, when my son was 5-years-old, I was financially unable to care for him so I placed him in a home where I knew he would be properly provided for. I had no choice, Abby.

Now he is 16, and when he visits me, he makes demands, uses abusive language and treats me in a most cruel and insulting manner.

I feel that this is his way of punishing me for having put him in a home.

What is the best way to cope with this situation? I don't appreciate this type of treatment from my own son. Thank you.

ABUSED

DEAR ABUSED: If you can't make him understand that you placed him in a home because you thought it would be best for him, perhaps a clergyman or counselor can. Your son desperately needs to be assured that he was loved-not abandoned.

Malpractice Time Limits Upheld

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — You've had surgery. Something doesn't feel quite right, but the surgeon assures you everything has gone well, and you trust his judgment.

It's three years later when you discover a lab test was performed improperly, and the ailment remained. Can you sue the doctor or hospital for medical malpractice?

The Supreme Court recently let stand a lower appellate court decision that you cannot.

The lower court, the 10th District Court of Appeals in Franklin County, said that the statute of limitations would bar such a suit, even though the alleged hospital error was not discovered until after the time limit had passed.

The 10th District decision relied on earlier rulings which strictly apply the statute of limitations—one year for suits against doctors, two years for negligence suits against hospitals.

The ruling came in a lawsuit brought by a couple against the Riverside Methodist Hospital in Columbus over a blood test performed five years earlier.

The test, performed in 1968 on a newborn, showed the child had the same Rh blood factor as its mother. The Rh factors actually were different, a fact the parents did not discover until three years later, after two unsuccessful pregnancies.

The mother contended the erroneous blood test caused her to be "sensitized" against Rhpositive fetal blood, in effect preventing her from having more children. Had the blood test been performed properly, she said, a drug could have been administered to stop the "sensitization."

The trial court dismissed the suit, saying it had been filed too late. The 10th District agreed.

In its opinion, the 10th District said the Supreme Court has allowed only one exception to the time limit for filing lawsuits—cases in which foreign objects, such as forceps or sponges, have been left in the body after surgery.

In those cases, the time limit begins to run when the foreign objects are discovered.

The couple's lawyer argued that the discovery of a foreign object in the body and the discovery of an erroneous lab test should present no legal difference. The 10th District disagreed.

"It is true that the end result may well...be more disastrous" in the case of an erroneous test, the court said. "However, these considerations and determinations are, we feel, within the policy-making area, and of a legislative nature for determination."

The ruling did not affect two wrongful death actions filed in connection with the two unsuccessful pregnancies. Those cases, filed within two years after the infants' deaths, are still pending.

Policeman Slain At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati police say the shooting of a police sergeant early today may have been accidental.

Chief of Detectives Joseph Staff said police are questioning the owner of a television repair shop where the shooting occurred to determine what happened.

Police said the dead officer, Sgt. Robert Lalley, was shot once during an exchange of gunfire after he and his partner stopped to check the back door of the repair shop.

The shooting took place about 1:05 a.m. in the city's Mount Airy section.

According to Staff, both men were in uniform at the time of the shooting.

Charles Carrollton, then the only living signer of the Declaration of Independence, laid the cornerstone of the B&O Railroad headquarters in Baltimore, Md., July 4, 1828.

Conservation Outlays Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is again trying to cut down on spending under the popular Agricultural Conservation Program which for nearly 40 years has provided farmers with financial help to improve their land.

Next year, the Agriculture Department said Friday, spending for the program's soil and water conservation projects will be held to $85 million. That is less than one-half the $175 million Congress has authorized.

Under the plan, which was devised by Congress in the mid-1930s to help farmers restore land ravaged by wind erosion, the government will pay 50 to 75 per cent of the cost for carrying out approved soil and water conservation projects.

"The 1976 program will be administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service through its farmer-elected committee system and will offer both annual and long-term conservation agreements with farmers," the department said.

"The objective (of the program) is to obtain needed conservation on farm lands beyond that which the farmer would accomplish with his own resources."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Not long ago a nature lover sought a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of all birds held captive in cages. He said they should go free at once. After due deliberation, the court ruled that habeas corpus does not apply to birds.

Plainly, the man had the wrong clients. But he did have the right idea. For habeas corpus, which has been called freedom's ultimate weapon, is the best way that someone imprisoned unfairly can gain liberty.

What it prevents, in the most practical manner, is holding a person in jail with no questions asked — the practice that is the very hallmark of despotism.

Habeas corpus (loosely translated by a Dickens character as "have-his-carass") is a message from judge to jailer, ordering him to explain why he is keeping a particular individual in custody. It raises questions like these:

Is the prisoner being held without knowing what the charges are against him?

Is he being denied an opportunity to get out on bail?

What about his right to a speedy trial?

If already convicted, did he receive "due process of law" in the courtroom?

In case the jailer is unable to justify the imprisonment, the prisoner goes free.

Embodied in the Constitution from the start (thus preceding even the Bill of Rights), habeas corpus has gradually been put to new uses.

For example, it is often employed in matrimonial disputes to liberate a child from the custody of an unfit parent. As one court commented in invoking this procedure:

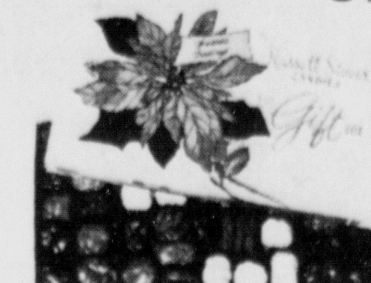

"The law does not wait upon niceties, it does not dally and dawdle, when what is at stake is the safety of (the child). It leaps to the rescue with the aid of its historic writ."

Grange Plans Christmas Party

Mt. Pleasant Grange has scheduled its annual Christmas carry-in dinner for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Grange and 4-H building in Circleville. Gifts will be exchanged.

Miles Greenwood, who established a foundry in Cincinnati in 1832, is also known as the founder of the first paid fire department in the nation.

Campus Notes

Roger Hott was among the 51 Eastern Kentucky University seniors who have been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The students were selected by a faculty committee following nomination by the heads of their colleges. Their selection was given final approval by the national "Who's Who" organization.

Among the 500 candidates for degrees from Bowling Green State University is James P. Ankrom, New Holland. Ankrom will be awarded a bachelor of science degree in business administration during the fall quarter commencement ceremonies Saturday.

Jay Brinker of Route 2, Ashville, has been elected to the Students' Council of University College at the Ohio State University.

The Students' Council serves in an advisory and planning role for administrators of University College, the academic unit of initial enrollment for students at OSU.

This is the council's fifth year of operation.

Man Hurt In Crash

A Columbus clergyman, the Rev. Walter Dawson, 47, suffered minor injuries in a two-car head-on collision 11:04 a.m. Saturday, Circleville Police said.

He was referred to a doctor for left arm and chest pains following the accident, which occurred on rain-slicked Western Ave., just north of the S. Scioto St. intersection.

Police said Dawson was driving south on Western Ave. when a northbound auto, driven by Pearl D. Graham, 25, Tarlton, apparently slid on the pavement in the right hand curve of the road and crashed head-on into his car.

Dawson told police he managed to stop his vehicle before the accident.

Gallia County, Ohio, founded in 1803, took the Latin name for France. The county was settled by refugees from the French Revolution.

Miniature 'Crane' Guards Plutonium

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (AP) — A safeguard which resembles a miniature overhead crane is being developed to make plutonium an easier substance with which to work.

The Automated Plutonium Assay system, controlled by a computer, is under development at the Mound Laboratory and is designed to keep constant tabs on plutonium supplies without a human operator.

Project leader Dr. Walter W. Strohm says the machine will furnish "real time material accountability" with an alarm that sounds the instant any plutonium becomes unaccounted for.

He said it would be one of a number of safeguards, including physical security and intrusion alarms, to prevent the theft or diversion of plutonium, the toxic, radioactive material that can be used to make atomic bombs.

Plutonium, a man-made radioisotope, is produced as a byproduct in the operation of a nuclear power plant. While only a small amount is now available from commercial operation of nuclear plants, the amount is certain to increase in the next few years, according to Strohm.

He said his job is to help devise an adequate plutonium security system that can be used in commercial plutonium operations without high cost.

The new system is designed to be installed inside a series of "glove boxes"—the enclosed working areas inside which plutonium is handled by remote control.

The automatic overhead crane-like device would run on tracks from one end of the glove box to the other. A small trolley runs back and forth on the overhead beam. It has a hoisting motor that can lower a hook-like gadget to pick up a can holding about two pounds of plutonium and carry it to any other part of the glove box.

Each can would have a tamper-proof lid and a magnetic identification number, so the system would keep a continuous record of the amount of radioactive material in each container.

NEW AMBULANCE — Wellman Funeral Home has added a third ambulance to its fleet of vehicles to serve area residents. This vehicle is a regulation squad type rescue unit and meets all present and anticipated state and federal regulations. Charles Wellman and Donald Reams have both completed training as emergency medical technicians. Wellman emphasized the funeral home has acquired the vehicle to supplement the city's volunteer emergency rescue service, not to be in competition with it, and to provide service outside the squad's jurisdictional limits. Shown with the vehicle are, from the left, Joe Duvall, Bill Strehle, Reams and Wellman.

GAME MACHINE — A new and unique business has opened in the building located at the intersection of the Stoutsville Pike and Route 22. The Game Machine, owned and operated by John Swan of Columbus, has all the latest pin ball machines, video games, air hockey and tournament football. Open from noon to midnight, Swan caters to both old and young. In addition to the game machines, he will serve pizzas, subs and ham sandwiches with cheese. He is redecorating the basement and hopes to have dancing there on Friday and Saturday nights. The other five nights of the week it will be available as a meeting room to youth, fraternal and civic organizations. Swan also has plans to allow organizations to use the game machines for fund raising benefits. This is the third location he has opened. Two others are in Columbus and he has plans for opening another near the Ohio State University Campus.

Dayton School Plan Filed Today

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Slain desegregation expert Charles Glatt is expected to have a special day in court today.

His widow is to file the Dayton school-integration plan Glatt had well under way when he was shot to death as he worked Sept. 19.

"I don't want Charles to have died in vain," said Johena Glatt.

Glatt's plan, completed by his widow and several friends, focuses on pairing and clustering of schools, changing boundaries and would mean closing about five schools, Mrs. Glatt said.

It also would require busing about 20,000 children.

Glatt was appointed July 7 by U.S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin to design a plan for Dayton schools.

His widow made special arrangements to present the 180-page plan on Sunday after a delay in completing the typing. But Rubin's secretary said the filing probably would be handled today.

Pairing and clustering schools means enlarging attendance zones and splitting schools so they draw from both white and black communities, Mrs. Glatt explained.

After Glatt's death, responsibility for his work was taken over by a team headed by Miami (Ohio) University Prof. Dr. William Gordon.

"Many of us hoped we could put together a plan," said Mrs. Glatt. "It never occurred to us that we could get Charles' notes from the court."

Finger, a court-appointed advisor, is free to review the Glatt plan and take from it whatever he wants to submit to Rubin.

A Dayton man, Neal Bradley Long, who reportedly was upset by plans to bus students, has been charged with Glatt's murder.

Cuyahoga County, Ohio, took its name from the river called for the Indian term meaning "crooked."

FAMILY STEAK HOUSE

One Mile South of Circleville on U.S. 23

Frank Blair is now on TV and radio, reporting energy news from Columbia Gas.

If natural gas cost what it's worth, there wouldn't be a shortage today.

Natural gas is our cleanest fuel. It doesn't blacken skies, it doesn't pollute rivers and streams. It has always been cheap. And that's the root of the natural gas shortage today.

The drillers' price of natural gas has been controlled by government and, as Columbia Gas points out, held artificially low, compared to the cost and value of other fuels. Because it is clean and valuable, and inexpensive, the demand for natural gas has far outgrown the available supplies. And, too much of it is wasted.

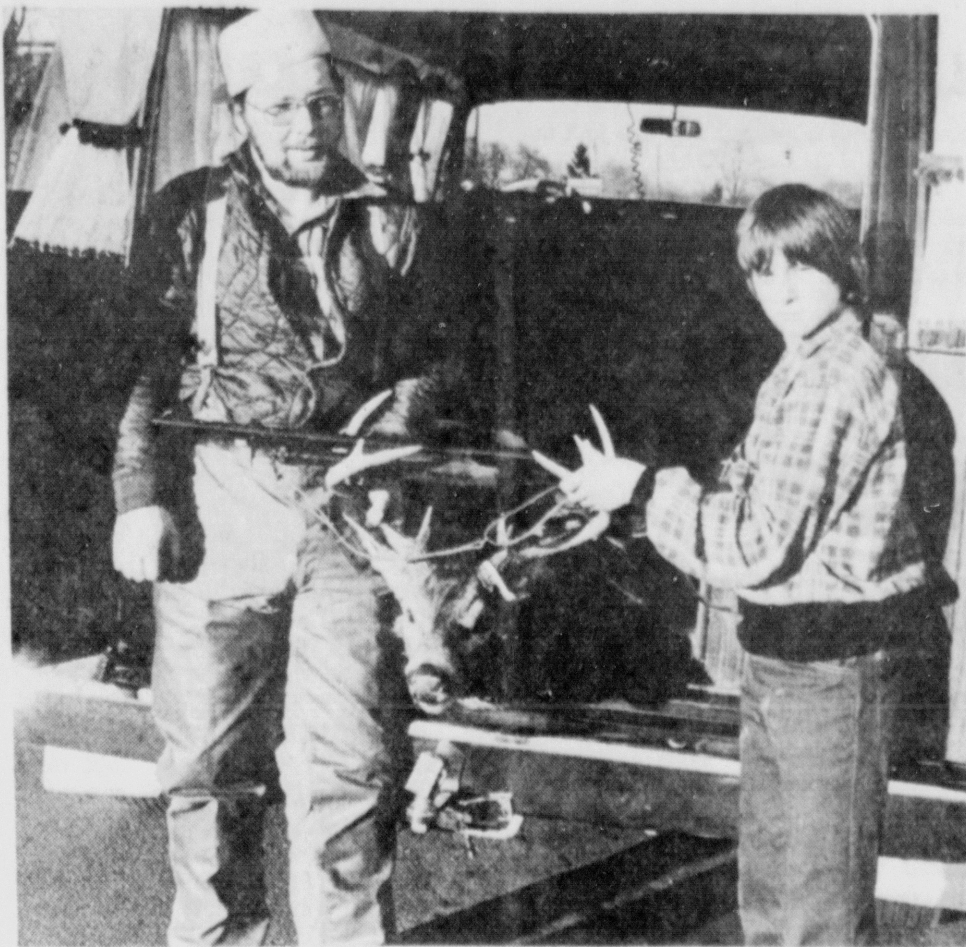

Columbia says we must understand the fact that America is running out of cheap energy and we have to conserve natural gas like the precious natural resource that it is. But we can't stop there. New gas supplies must be produced.

About a third of the nation's total energy, and over half of all the fuel used by industry, is natural gas. Our supplies of natural gas cannot be allowed to remain locked up in the face of need.

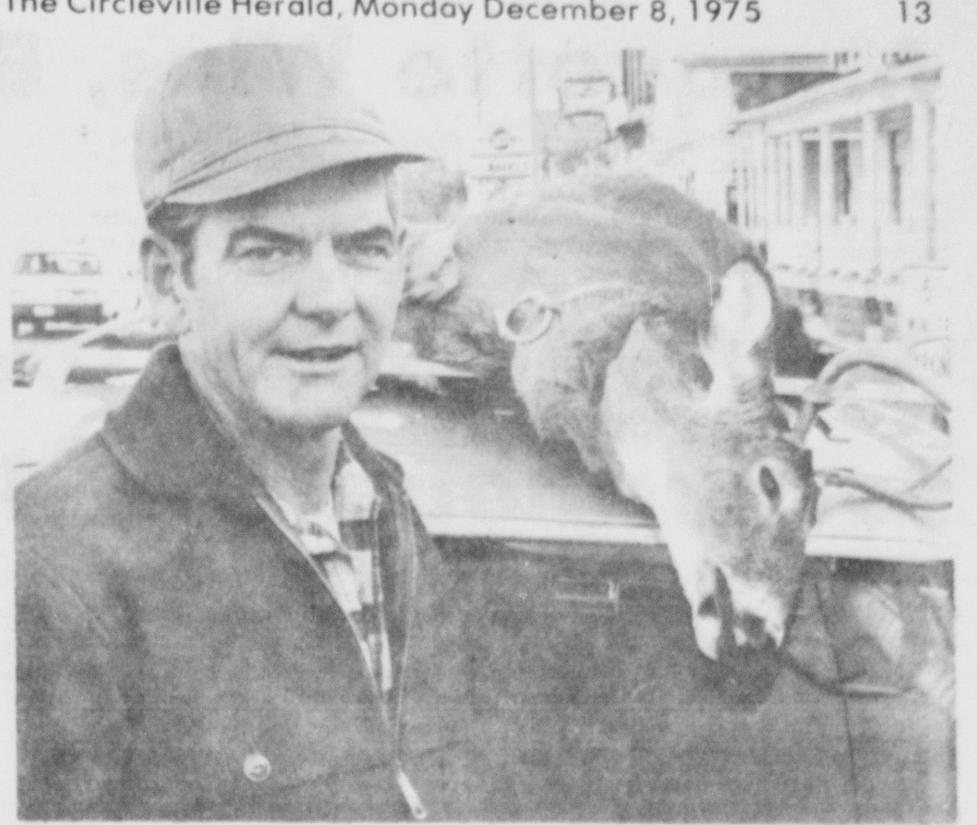

Columbia knows new gas will have to cost more. More to find, more to produce, and more to use. And they feel that if federal policies continue to discourage the development of new gas here at home, in the Gulf of Mexico, and in the outer continental shelf off the Atlantic Coast, we may not have a choice between higher prices and higher unemployment. The American economy can't afford to have a third of the country's energy supply and half of industry's needs decline further. No one likes to pay higher prices for anything. But, no one likes to be out of work either.

THE SPANGLER CLAN OF Ashville each shot a deer during the week-long shotgun season. In the group picture on the left is Paul Spangler, 332 Mary Place, who shot a doe with his son Randy, 326 Ruth Place. Rick, another son, 70½ Powell St., shot a spike buck, while Raymond Jenkins, far right, an uncle, and Dr. Robert Sliwinski, Ashville, were in on the hunt. The deer were killed Thursday in Vinton County. Terry Spangler, 70 Powell St., and Jeff Jenkins, pose with the 12-point, 180-pound buck Spangler shot while hunting with the clan Wednesday in Vinton County.

CHUCK ALLISON, Kingston Pike, shot this four-point buck in Meigs County last week. Its the first deer for Allison, who has been hunting for the last 20 years.

HUNTER CERTAIN of 226 Second Ave. shot this eight-point buck 11 a.m. Tuesday in Vinton County while hunting with Jerry Rayburn and Pete Ater. It was the second eight-pointer Certain has killed in three years.

WILLIAM MUMAW, Route 1, Stoutsville, got this six-point buck in Fairfield County. He is pictured with Billy Mumaw. Hunting with him were Tom Hunt, Herschel Mumaw, and Larry Greeno. Mumaw shot an eight-pointer last year.

HERBERT JONES JR., of 131 Logan St., was the first to bring his deer to The Herald. He killed this eight-pointer around noon Tuesday in Ross County while hunting with Ramsey Rigby of Kingston.

TIM WAGNER, 410 Sunnyview Dr., killed this eight-point buck Thursday in Jackson County.

Cleveland Firm Takes Over Bank

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Officials of the National City Corp. of Cleveland say the First National Bank of Elyria will become a subsidiary of the bigger firm.

National City, parent of National City Bank of Cleveland, will acquire all outstanding stock of the Elyria bank for $4.6 million, at $63 a share.

First National has four banking offices in Elyria, with total assets of about $35 million. National City Corp. also owns Third National Bank of Sandusky and First National Bank of Ashland.

National City Corp., as of Sept. 30, had total assets of nearly $2.6 billion.

REX HARDMAN, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hardman, Route 1, Laurelville, shot this deer Friday on Thompson Ridge Rd. It weighed 190 pounds, field-dressed. It was the second time Rex had gone deer hunting.

Marquette Wins, But Coach Unhappy West Victorious In Shrine Bowl

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
A sub-par performance at Marquette usually gets a tongue-lashing from the headmaster.
"We're having little breakdowns everywhere, it's all breaking down," Coach Al McGuire snapped after his third-ranked Warriors took an unimpressive 56-45 decision over Northern Michigan Saturday night. "I'm talking about more team effort and coming to play. They are just not playing." McGuire hasn't been happy with his basketball players since their opening-day effort, an 87-60 success over St. Joseph's, Ind. The Warriors played below their capabilities then, too, McGuire insisted.

Elsewhere in the country, the rest of the Top Ten played according to form. Second-ranked Maryland blasted Richmond 98-71; fourth-ranked North Carolina defeated Virginia Tech 88-75; No. 5 UCLA ripped Southern Illinois 81-60; No. 6 Louisville turned back Murray 78-59; No. 8 Tennessee nipped No. 16 Michigan 82-81 and No. 10 Cincinnati lashed South Florida 96-75.

Among the other ranked clubs, No. 11 Arizona beat North Arizona 98-81; No. 13 North Carolina State crushed North Carolina-Asheville 111-60 and 14th-ranked Alabama defeated No. 17 Providence 71-67.

Led by Butch Lee's 16 points, Marquette withstood a second-half rally by stubborn Northern Michigan to beat the Wildcats. The Warriors stopped Northern Michigan cold for the first six minutes and 47 seconds and took an 8-0 lead. A rash of turnovers and bad passes allowed Marquette to build a 20-9 lead with about seven minutes left in the first half.

The Wildcats closed the gap to 20-15 with 5:51 left on long outside shots by Bill Uelmen and Kurt Ekberg, but the Warriors ran off six unanswered baskets to lead 32-21 at intermission. In the second half, Lee hit two outside shots to make it 36-25 and Marquette extended the lead to as much as 43-27 with about 12 minutes to play.

Led by Steve Sheppard and John Lucas, Maryland's Terps rolled past Richmond. The Terps, who won their first two games by an average of 50 points, were never more than seven points ahead of the Spiders until they broke it open with a 14-1 spree with just under seven minutes remaining.

Sheppard scored four of the points and Lucas added three as the Terps moved from a 72-68 advantage to a comfortable 86-69 margin with 3:23 left.

Mitch Kupchak's 24-point, 13-rebound performance led North Carolina past Virginia Tech. The Tar Heels fashioned their victory without the help of backcourt ace Phil Ford, who sat out the second half with an injured knee.

UCLA rolled over Southern Illinois behind Ralph Drollinger's 16 points and 14 each from Marques Johnson and Richard Washington.

The Bruins broke open the game with a 17-4 blitz to start the second half. It was the Bruins' 83rd consecutive victory at Pauley Pavilion. Their last home loss was to Southern California on March 6, 1970.

Sluggish Louisville ran off a 13-2 streak in the first six minutes of the second half and the Cardinals went on to beat Murray with ease. Louisville trailed 25-18 at one point in the first half, but closed within 31-28 at halftime and then exploded in the final period.

Rick Wilson, who led all scorers with 22 points, and Phillip Bond each hit two field goals. Ricky Gallon hit a layup and Terry Harmon added a three-point trip for a 41-33 Louisville lead with 14:45 left.

Tennessee, hitting 11 of its first 13 field goals but leading by only 10 points at halftime, survived a second-half rally by Michigan and won a battle of national basketball powers. Trailing 53-39, Michigan got hot and made 11 of 12 baskets from the field to close the gap to 71-69 and the game remained close to the end. Bernard King, Tennessee's 6-7 sophomore ace, hit 13 of 16 field goals to lead the Vols with 27 points. But it was Mike Jackson's free throw with 12 seconds left that gave Tennessee a three-point cushion at 82-79 and the winning margin.

Adrian Dantley's 26 points and a tough defense helped Notre Dame beat Texas Tech.

Center Robert Miller scored a season-high 24 points as Cincinnati whipped South Florida. Nine points in the final four minutes of the first half by Bob Elliott triggered Arizona past Northern Arizona.

Kenny Carr poured in 39 points to lead North Carolina State past North Carolina-Asheville and Leon Douglas scored 19 points and collected 16 rebounds to pace Alabama past Providence.

Elsewhere, Missouri won the Show-Me Classic in Columbia, Mo., with an 85-68 victory over Oklahoma City University; Nevada-Las Vegas took the Steel Bowl tourney in Pittsburgh by beating Duquesne 86-83; Southern Cal won the Vanderbilt Invitational in Nashville, Tenn., with an 81-80 decision over Kansas State and Arizona State took the Sun Devil Classic in Tempe, Ariz., by beating DePaul 74-67.

Metropolitan New York PGA champion Bill Collins of Purchase, N. Y., won the 1975 Izod International golf title by beating Charlie Sifford on the second playoff hole at Southern Pines, N. C.

Westfall Cagers Drop Tilt To Southeastern, 44-38

After getting off to a poor first quarter, Westfall managed to hang in the game and even the score at the end of the third period but then the Mustangs found the lid on the bucket in the fourth frame and dropped a 44-38 decision to Southeastern on the Panthers' floor Saturday night.

The win ran Southeastern's season record to 4-0 but the Mustangs held the Panthers, who had been averaging better than 70 points a game, to a season low.

Southeastern led 10-7 at the first quarter, 26-22 at the half but the Mustangs knotted the count at 30-30 at the conclusion of the third period only to have a cold wave strike their shooting in the fourth period.

"We were flat and didn't run our offense the way we should have," Westfall coach Mike Eckle commented. "We just couldn't buy a basket in the fourth quarter and even missed four good shots from inside that could have changed the game. We also didn't get a chance to shoot a foul in the second half which certainly didn't help us," Eckle said.

Westfall only had eight shots in the third frame as Southeastern began a stall but John Long had a hot hand and kept Westfall in the game in the period.

The Mustangs managed to tie the game up, 36-36, with less than three minutes to go. But while the Mustangs could only pick up one bucket the Panthers got a pair, one at the buzzer, and added four foul shots to gain the win.

Long led the Mustangs scoring with 11 points, Kevin Reid added 10, Mack Dick tallied seven, Chris Riddle and Bill Hamman each added four and Jeff Karshner had two.

Coy Prater paced Southeastern and all scorers with 22 markers, Carroll, Stevens and Skaggs all netted six while Bennett and Estep each added two.

Westfall hit 17 of 51 shots from the floor and converted four of 10 from the charity stripe.

The Panthers netted 17 of 46 from the hardwood and hit on 10 of 12 from the foul line.

The Mustangs pulled down 35 rebounds while the Panthers grabbed 32. Riddle, Mack Dick and Karshner were the board men for Westfall while Stevens was the big man for Southeastern.

Westfall committed 17 turnovers while Southeastern misplayed the ball 15 times.

The Mustangs are now 2-2 on the season and 1-2 in Scioto Valley Conference play. They will be at Piketon Friday night.

SUMMARY
WESTFALL — Riddle, 2-0-4; Karshner, 0-2-2; Dick, 3-1-7; Reid, 5-0-10; Hamman, 2-0-4; Long, 5-1-11. Totals, 17-4-38.

Cincinnati Stingers Trip Crusaders, 3-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — A week ago the Cincinnati Stingers were in the midst of an eightgame losing streak and John Kiely, a 23-year-old rookie goaltender, was laboring in the minor leagues.

Today the Stingers have climbed back to first place in the Eastern Division of the World Hockey Association, thanks to some veteran-like work from Kiely.

"The kid has been unbelievable," said Stingers' Coach Terry Slater Sunday night after Kiely responded with his third victory in four games, helping Cincinnati defeat the Cleveland Crusaders 3-1.

Close Games Feature Reynolds Cage Tilts

Jim Estep hit the nets for 20 points to pace the Reynolds Fabricating cagers to a 48-44 overtime win over Warehouse Salary.

Phil Salyers and Terry Southers each added 10, Tom Tootle netted six while Gary Disbennett tallied two and controlled the boards.

In other league action, Office beat Windows and Doors, 24-20, and Warehouse Hourly upset Extrusion, 56-54.

The St. Louis Cardinals have sent outfielder Willie Davis to the San Diego Padres for out-fielder Dick Sharib who is on the Cardinal's Tulsa roster.

Ohio State Drops Tilt To Penn State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A two-point halftime edge quickly disappeared Sunday as Ohio State dropped a 74-68 college basketball decision to Penn State.

It was the Buckeyes' second loss in two games, while Penn State picked up its third triumph in as many outings.

Led by Larry Bolden's 19 points, Ohio State shot at a redhot 60 per cent clip in the first half, taking a 39-37 advantage into the locker rooms after the first 20 minutes.

But the second half belonged to Penn State's 6-6 Chris Erichsen and 6-8 Romel Raffin, who controlled the boards. Erichsen's tip-in with 7:23 left gave the hosts a 62-60 lead, and they never were headed again.

Bolden finished with 28 points and Craig Taylor added 16.

Erichsen led Penn State with 20 while Raffin had 12.

Elsewhere on the Ohio scene Saturday, 10th ranked Cincinnati, Dayton and Xavier cruised to easy triumphs.

The Bearcats (4-0), with sophomore Robert Miller pumping in a season-high 24 points, mowed down South Florida 96-75. Dayton (2-1) shot 52 per cent and Johnny Davis poured in 21 points in a 95-58 rout of Biscayne. Xavier (2-1) thumped Thomas More 104-84 behind Gary Whitfield's 22 points.

Reserve Odell Ball scored eight of Kent State's last 12 points as the deliberate Flashes survived Akron 41-40. Bowling Green nipped St. Joseph's (Pa.) 74-73 while Ohio University took an 86-62 shiner at Northwestern.

Wright State hit the century mark for the second time this season, rolling past Marian (Ind.) 107-83 and Kenyon mastered Ashland 65-61.

Elsewhere Saturday, it was: Otterbein 81, Ohio Dominican 74; Central State 81, Wayne State 79 in overtime; Valparaiso 69, Capital 63; Adrian 68, John Carroll 65; Case Western Reserve 92, Ohio Wesleyan 89; Denison 73, Wabash 71; Findlay 70, Bluffton 61; Ohio Northern 71, West Virginia State 67; Heidelberg 58, Wilmington 57; Defiance 88, Taylor 85; Hiram 89, Mount Union 88; Marietta 75, Bethany 66; Wittenberg 79, Point Park 55; Tiffin 63, Malone 61; Urbana 94, Mount Vernon Nazarene 81; Walsh 80, Steubenville 72, and Cedarville 61, Wilberforce 55.

Warriors Top Sonics

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer

Gus Williams hasn't taken long to make his mark on pro basketball.

The slender, cat-quick rookie from Southern Cal, passed over on the first round of the National Basketball Association draft before being grabbed by Golden State on the second go-round, has given the Warriors a big boost off the bench with his speed, hustle and scoring punch.

Williams came up with one of his best efforts in Sunday's nationally televised game against the Seattle SuperSonics, pouring in 27 points in the Warriors' come-from-behind 115-106 victory, their second win in less than 24 hours over the Sonics.

In NBA games Sunday night, the Phoenix Suns whipped the Chicago Bulls 114-97 and the Los Angeles Lakers trimmed the Washington Bullets 114-106.

In American Basketball Association games, the Denver Nuggets beat the New York Nets 123-119 and the Kentucky Colonels defeated the Virginia Squires 112-98.

Bowling At A Glance

By BOB BENSONHAVER

Since I won't be here the next couple of Mondays, I want to wish everybody a very beautiful Christmas. If you're traveling, drive carefully and don't drink.

Everytime I think I'm going to shorten this column, bowlers just rip the lanes apart, anyway.

Bev Tracy started the week out right with a 200-548 in the Prince-Princess with Dave Roth rolling a 224 single and Walter Dayhoff a 575 series. Sharon McCollister bowled a 203 single and Lucy Lovett a 490 series with Wendell Lovett rolling a 213 and Dick McCollister a 544 series in the King-Queen.

Harry Wiget mangled the pins for a 218-594 in the Prairie Dogs. Ruthe Lowe did it twice this week at Prairie Lanes. She bowled a 565 series in the Roundtowners and a 222-577 in the Prairie Gals. Liz Longicin rolled a 218 single in the Roundtowners. Glenda Kramer showed some fine bowling also as she rolled a 222-587 in the Prairie Gals.

Fred Eveland and Dick Byrd took league honors in the Prairie Men with a 197 and 573 respectively. Rosemary Flowers bowled a 192 single and Alice Shoemaker a 511 series in the Squaws. In the Ladies Trio, Cherrie Leach scored a 198 single with Anna Cornwell rolling a 492 series.

Dan Teal burned the lanes in the Independent League rolling a 225-613. Margie Olney added a little spark to the fire in the Ladies Hustlers with a 221-589. Then Dave Hick and Greg Peck added a little more coal to the flame rolling a 226 and 618 respectively, in the Industrial Men's.

In the Friday Mixed, Lucia Spangler bowled a 201 single and Gloria Spriggs a 515 series with Bob Justus scoring a nice 235 single and Pete Whitseed a 601 series.

DuPont bowlers, Evan Fannin rolled a fine 226 single with Bill Elliott a 617 series.

Prairie Cowboys — Bob Baranick, 202-538. Prairie Miss — Diane Coffland, 183-465.

Team highs for the week, Chillicothe Iron, 1099-3130; Dips, 1080-3119; DuPont Maintenance, 1106 and Drifters, 3050.

At Circle D, in a match Nov. 30 between the five top averaged junior and adult men bowlers, these scores were rolled: Bob Strawser, 585; Pete Strawser, 520; Bill Smith, 501; Ralph Tigner, 501 and Larry Dietrich, 586; total, 2693. Juniors, Jeff Hipp, 456; Reynold Williams, 522; Tom Meena, 432; Tom Davis, 540; Tim Dietrich, dismayed over Swick's offday in rain-slickened Ohio Stadium.

"He just gets you in the end one. He's not bomb conscious. He's a carbon copy of Fran Tarkenton," said Buffalo scout Elbert Dubenion of the 6-foot-1, 188-pound Swick.

Said Roosevelt Brown of the New York Giants: "Swick reads defenses very well. He has the ability to avoid the pass rush. He delivers the ball very quickly on short passes."

Dick Crum, the Miami coach who directed the victory, said the West's original plan was to pass more with Swick. "But the football was like a sponge," he said.

Jerry Schweikert of John Carroll, the losing coach, said, "We couldn't sustain any momentum. Nothing went right for us."

Steve Ross of Ashland scored on runs of three and two yards and Greg Schwarber of Dayton kicked a 25-yard field goal for the West. Greg Kokal drilled an 11-yard pass to Ohio University's Mike Green for the lone East touchdown.

502; total, 2465. Not bad, huh?

Mixed Leagues, Early — Emmitt Dadde, 226 and Marty Sharrett, 200; Dick Schlegler, 576 and Mary Sharrett, 560. Late — Penny Dietrich, 228-609 and Jim Ballou, 217-572.

Monday Morning Ladies — Sara McConnell, 167 and Jeannie Valentine, 459. Early Monday Night — R. McConnell, 256-591; Late Monday — Vaughn Grubb Jr., 221 and Glen McFarland, 580. GE Midnite — Alice Shoemaker, 197-553.

Morning Glories in full bloom again, Irma Lewis and Sally Jones shared single game scores of 176 with Irma taking series honors with a 463. Linda Owens took league honors bowling a 212-548. Tuesday Nite Ladies saw Betty Boldosler roll a 216 single with Betty and Faye Weethee sharing series honors with a 564.

Larry Dietrich shattered the lanes with 232-619 in the Ashville K of P league.

Wednesday bowlers saw Pam Strous bowl a 192-543 in the Morning Ladies. Kay Sarchet and Elinor Flierl rolled a 208 and 474 respectively in the Matinee League. Kathy Leist bowled a nice 210-535 in the Ladies Evening League. Larry Dietrich scored a fine 249 single with Randy Arledge rolling a 643 series in the WNRE League. GE Nite Owls saw Chuck Rihl and Ed Barch bowl scores of 213 and 542 respectively.

Bev Agin was the top crackpot Thursday shattering the pins for a nice 198-516. Kay Farynowski was crowned Queen in the Queen Pins rolling scores of 188-487.

Dave Crawford bowled a single 226 with Ralph Ankrom a 570 series in the Elks League. In the Civic League, Ray Reichelderfer bowled a 211 single while Dana Carley bowled a 616 series.

Jeannie Valentine, still at it, bowled a 194-529 in the Friday Sunrise League. Friday Mixed — Gerogia Brokaw, 173 and Pat Ginther, 211; Judy Hart, 460 and Fred Belles, 566. DuPont Mixed — Mary Rudolph, 169; Charlie Ried, Don Flierl, Hal Whitfield, 192; JoAnn Ness, 465 and Bob Dahl, 530.

Senior Citizens — Yetta Duddleson, 146 and Roger Jury, 168; Betty Dietrich, 378 and Ernie Weller, 493.

Juniors — Bantam, Eric Longberry, 189-466; juniors, Jeff Meena, 210-544; seniors, Tom Meena, 178-504.

Team highs for the week, DeLong's Insurance, 1044-3057; Cellar Lumber, 1069 and Scioto Valley Bowling, 3027.

Until next time, happy bowling.

"The Ohio National Guard . . . Here To Serve"

Dolphins Trip Buffalo, 31-21

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
He was just a kid, they said. In his first two years as a reserve quarterback, a third-stringer, he hadn't thrown the ball even once. In this, his third year, he'd thrown it only five times — and that in a game that was already decided.

How in the world, they wondered, would this lanky, raw kid take over as a starter and direct a team fighting for its life in the National Football League?

He did it just fine, thank you.

"It's not my nature to be nervous," Don Strock said after passing for two touchdowns and running for one to lead the Miami Dolphins to a 31-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills. "I wasn't scared. I slept like a log last night, but I probably won't sleep tonight."

In Sunday's other games it was Baltimore 21, the New York Giants 0; St. Louis 31, Dallas 17; Washington 30, Atlanta 27; Pittsburgh 31, Cleveland 17; Cincinnati 31, Philadelphia 0; San Diego 28, Kansas City 20; Minnesota 24, Green Bay 3; Los Angeles 14, New Orleans 7; Houston 27, San Francisco 13; the New York Jets 30, New England 28, and Chicago 25, Detroit 21. Tonight it's Denver at Oakland.

Strock, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder who had warmed Miami's bench since coming out of Virginia Tech as the nation's collegiate passing champion in 1972, went from No. 3 to No. 1 in a hurry when Bob Griese and Earl Morrall were hobbled by injuries in successive weeks. If Coach Don Shula had any reservations about how his kid quarterback would do, he didn't give any evidence of it.

"He was on his own, playcalling," Shula said. "All he needed was an opportunity and he showed that in a big way." He showed his stuff in a big hurry, too. He hit 10 straight passes and staked the Dolphins to a 21-0 halftime lead on his TD run of five yards and scoring strikes of eight yards and one yard to Howard Twilley.

The Bills charged back in the second half. O.J. Simpson scored twice on a 14-yard run and a 62-yard pass from Joe Ferguson, who also hit J.D. Hill with a 31-yard TD pass.

But the rally was offset by Norm Bulaich's one-yard touchdown run. And for Buffalo, it was too little, too late. With the loss, the Bills fell out of the playoff chase. And with the victory, Miami remained a game ahead of Baltimore in the American Conference East and set up a first-place showdown in the Colts' corral next Sunday.

Colts 21, Giants 0
"The record means a lot — if we get into the playoffs," Lydell Mitchell said after rushing for 119 yards to give himself 1,008 for the season and become the first Baltimore running back ever to hit four figures. "But individual efforts don't mean that much if we don't make it all the way."

Mitchell scored the only TD the Colts needed to make the Giants their seventh straight victim with a nine-yard run. The Baltimore defense did its part by sacking Craig Morton eight times.

Cardinals 31, Cowboys 17
Jim Hart made up for the four interceptions he threw against Buffalo on Thanksgiving Day by throwing three touchdowns in St. Louis' victory over Dallas that restored the Cardinals' sole possession of first place in the National Conference East.

The Cowboys fell into a second-place tie with Washington, their foe next Saturday.

Redskins 30, Falcons 27
Once again, Washington seemed headed for overtime when Atlanta's Nick Mike-Mayer kicked a 44-yard field goal with 61 seconds to play, tying things at 27-27.

But Billy Kilmer, who had thrown three touchdown passes earlier, marched the Washington across the field and Mark Moseley booted a 39-yard field goal with five seconds to play, lifting the Redskins to victory.

Steelers 31, Browns 17
Pittsburgh, stung by two Cleveland touchdowns within 14 seconds in the first half, rallied behind two Terry Bradshaw touchdown passes to Lynn Swann and two Franco Harris scoring runs. They rolled to their 10th straight victory and stayed a game ahead of Cincinnati in the AFC's Central Division.

Bengals 31, Eagles 0
Ken Anderson returned from a week on the bench with an injury and completed 20 of 25 passes for 223 yards, including a 10-yard TD pass to Ed Williams, in Cincinnati's rout of the Eagles. Williams also scored on a one-yard dive.

Chargers 28, Chiefs 20
"I knew things were changing," San Diego Coach Tommy Prothro said, "when I beat a slot machine for the first time when our plane stopped in Las Vegas on the way to Kansas City." Prothro was right. The Chargers won their first game of the year behind rookie Rickey Young's 124 yards and two touchdowns rushing.

Vikings 24, Packers 3
Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes to John Gilliam and another to Chuck Foreman to beat the Packers and move within one TD pass of Johnny Unitas' NFL career record of 290.

Rams 14, Saints 7
Defensive end Jack Youngblood tackled New Orleans quarterback Archie Manning in the end zone for a safety and linebacker Jim Peterson ran 67 yards for a touchdown with a fumble recovery to lead Los Angeles to victory.

Oilers 27, 49ers 13
Houston's defense limited San Francisco to just five net yards rushing and Billy Johnson returned a punt 76 yards late in the game to seal the Oilers' victory over the 49ers.

Jets 30, Patriots 28
Joe Namath picked apart New England's defense, hitting on 14 of 18 passes for 160 yards, and John Riggins ran for 154 yards and two touchdowns as the Jets snapped an eight-game losing streak.

Bears 25, Lions 21
Roland Harper bolted 27 yards for a touchdown with 4:22 left to lift the Bears past Detroit. Harper's run came after the Lions had scored twice in a 69-second span on touchdown passes of 15 and 59 yards from Joe Reed to Marlin Briscoe.

and won the NCAA Division III championship.

Texas Lutheran quarterback Mike Washington scored on a 60-yard run and passed to Brock Kalmbach for two more touchdowns in leading his club to its second consecutive NAIA Division II Championship with a 34-8 victory over California Lutheran.

Elsewhere, the NCAA Division II and NAIA Division I tournaments were pared to the finalists.

In the NCAA Division II semifinals, Western Kentucky beat New Hampshire 14-3 in the Grantland Rice Bowl as Rick Caswell returned a punt 87 yards for a touchdown and Western Kentucky's swarming defense forced New Hampshire into numerous turnovers. In the Pioneer Bowl, Northern Michigan edged Livingston 28-26 as quarterback Steve Martucci passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third.

Arkansas wasn't the only big winner in college football this weekend.

While the Razorbacks were earning a share of the Southwest Conference title and a berth in the Cotton Bowl with their stunning 31-6 upset of previously unbeaten Texas A&M, Wittenberg and Texas Lutheran won division championships and a number of other schools were moving towards other college division titles.

Arkansas earned its first Cotton Bowl berth in a decade with a superb defensive effort and a fine performance by quarterback Scott Bull, who ran for one touchdown and passed for another. But it was Arkansas' defense which stole the show.

"We out-Aggied the Aggie defense, and they have a great one," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "Texas A&M's a great team, but so was Arkansas."

Arkansas will meet Georgia in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, while Texas A&M will play Southern Cal in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 22.

Freshman David Merritt broke loose on touchdown runs of 81 and 57 yards and gained a total of 186 yards on 22 carries as Wittenberg blanked Ithaca 28-0 in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl and won the NCAA Division III championship.

Texas Lutheran quarterback Mike Washington scored on a 60-yard run and passed to Brock Kalmbach for two more touchdowns in leading his club to its second consecutive NAIA Division II Championship with a 34-8 victory over California Lutheran.

Wittenberg Stagg Bowl Winner, 28-0

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — "We had to fight to get here," said Wittenberg Coach Dave Maurer after his Tigers won their second NCAA Division III football title in three years, shutting out Ithaca 28-0 in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

"We were here in Phenix City because of our defense and they did the job again today," said Maurer after his team recovered three fumbles and intercepted one pass in the game Saturday.

Freshman running back David Merritt led the Wittenberg offense, sprinting 81 and 57 yards for touchdowns in the second half while piling up 186 yards on 22 carries.

"Merritt's two runs hurt us," said Ithaca Coach Jim Butterfield, "but I'd say the story of the game was the big kicking game of Wittenberg which forced us into bad field position all day."

Wittenberg punter Gary Sittler averaged 46 yards on seven kicks.

Quarterback Brian Aschenbrenner scored the Ohio team's opening touchdown in the first quarter on a four-yard keeper and threw a 72-yard pass to Doug Moore in the second period for another score.

The upstate New York team never got inside the Wittenbert 20-yard line in its first loss of the season after 11 consecutive victories.

Wittenberg closed the season with a 12-1 record.

Air Force senior linebacker Dave Lawson of Shawnee Mission, Kan., holds five NCAA kicking records, including most career field goals and most career points by kicking.

and won the NCAA Division III championship.

Texas Lutheran quarterback Mike Washington scored on a 60-yard run and passed to Brock Kalmbach for two more touchdowns in leading his club to its second consecutive NAIA Division II Championship with a 34-8 victory over California Lutheran.

Elsewhere, the NCAA Division II and NAIA Division I tournaments were pared to the finalists.

Dick Crum Named Coach Of Year Again

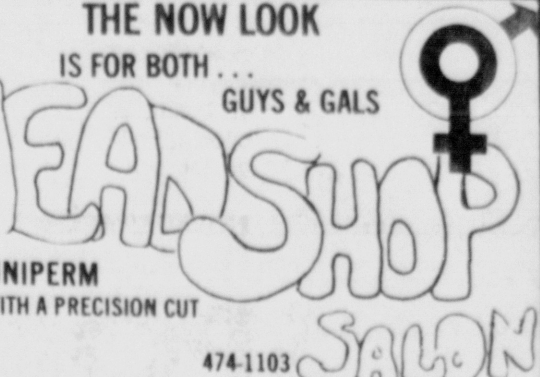

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dick Crum of Miami of Ohio is the first football mentor to be named Ohio College Coach of the Year for a second consecutive year.

The 41-year-old Crum, who led the Redskins to a 10-1 season and the Mid-American Conference championship, was selected by the state's 32 college football coaches in the annual poll conducted by the Columbus Dispatch.

Bengals Swamp Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Someone remarked that the hardest shot Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson took all afternoon was when he dug his elbow into his stomach while putting on his socks after the game.

That about described the 31-0 Bengal victory Sunday over the hapless Philadelphia Eagles in a National Football League game.

Anderson stood in the pocket and picked the Philadelphia defense to pieces, and when the linebackers dropped back to counter the passes, he sent his backs ripping through the defensive line.

Anderson directed an offense that rattled the Eagles for 484 yards, 226 passing and 258 rushing. The Bengals' defense was equally as effective, limiting Philadelphia to 225 yards total, intercepting four passes and recovering one fumble. It simply was no contest. The Bengals ran off 86 plays to 68 for the bungling Birds of coach Mike McCormack.

Cincinnati isn't supposed to be a running team. The Bengals usually live or die with the pass. So, where did the running game come from all of a sudden?

The Bengals' veteran coach, Paul Brown, smiled at the question. He looked like the cat who ate the canary.

"We can run when that's the nature of the game," said Brown. "Their drops were quick, they gave us the run, so we took it."

By winning, the Bengals boosted their record to 10-2, still one game behind the Pittsburgh Steelers in the American Conference Central Division. They meet Pittsburgh next Sunday, but even a victory wouldn't be enough for the division title.

Should the Bengals and Steelers wind up with identical records, Pittsburgh would win on the basis of beating more teams within the division.

Toledo, Dayton, Port Huron and Saginaw skated to victories Sunday in International Hockey League action.

Ian MacThee scored three goals to lead the Toledo Goal-diggers to a 5-3 victory over the home team-Columbus Owls.

Toledo jumped out to a 2-0 first-period lead and Mac-thee added a third at :51 of the second period. But in the next 12 minutes, Jean Marie Nicol scored twice for Columbus.

MacThee fired in what proved to be the game winner 40-seconds into the third period and his third goal at 17:43.

Toledo is 11-8-6, while Columbus slipped to 4-18-3 in the South Division.

At Dayton, Steve Self got three points to help the Gems to a 9-4 victory over the Fort Wayne Komets.

The first queen to visit the United States was Queen Emma, widow of King Kamehameha IV, of the Sandwich Islands.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may be quite certain in your mind as to exactly how you intend to handle things, but it wouldn't hurt to get another's viewpoint. Some interesting new concepts could result.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You may not have the incentives to try and accomplish the extraordinary now, but a bit of extra thought given to the future could completely change your perspective — and stimulate your ambitions anew.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): After some early morning confusion, day should turn out to be surprisingly productive. You also stand to gain financially.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Stellar influences suggest a need for added vigor in your thrust forward, but be careful not to alienate associates. Tendencies toward overaggressiveness prevail.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some complexities indicated. However, your ability to move in tight spots and maintain equilibrium through heavy seas can see you through.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Make the most of your really bright ideas and concise, solid plans for achievement now. Accentuate positive thinking. Combine intuition and know-how.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Better than usual advantages, but more than usual effort asked, too. Some past investment of money or time begins to pay; invest more for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): You may think you have something under control, rolling briskly. Better take another look for hidden flaws, anything that could mean time, energy lost.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): An original twist or a new method could brighten routine, but don't go to extremes and attempt the bizarre.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may possibly have to set aside certain personal desires in order to show your abilities in the best light. The effort you make in this regard will pay off, however.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Present everything in your thorough, affable manner; thus you will win points and outwit the competition. Do your best but don't undertake the unreasonable.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Both regular work and new ventures favored. Returns from past efforts indicated very soon. Whatever you do well will have long-range value.

NEW YORK (AP) — Do viewers these days ever really listen to what's being said on television? Or do they simply watch, munch potato chips and doze off?

We began worrying about this the other day while watching, munching potato chips and dozing off. It made us wonder how many people actually would notice slight changes in oft-heard phrases on television.

Suppose, for example, a commercial stressing that the Widget compact car gets 41 miles per gallon on the highway and 30 in the city ended by cautioning: "Actual mileage won't vary according to individual driving habits."

One wonders if there'd be an uproar if someone looked at the supposedly clean shirt of a man, then dismayed his wife by crying, "Square around the collar, square around the collar!"

Would you do a double-take if the TV announcer said, "Chico and the Man" is taped in Hollywood before a dead studio audience?

What about: "Portions of this show were post-recorded."

Or: "'All in the Family' will be back in just one hour."

Watch an old movie about the U.S. Cavalry and the Indians. See if you'd feel something's wrong just before the big battle scene when the grizzled old scout tells the headstrong young officer:

"I don't like it, lieutenant. It's too noisy."

See if you'd wonder about that bath soap commercial where a handsome dude passes a young couple and the girl sighs and says he smells nice, whereupon her beau complains: "But I use a deodorant soap."

And she says: "That's the trouble. You smell."

On Sundays, who really listens to the audio portion of pro football games on TV? We defy you to find anyone who remembers that just before kickoff, the National Anthem singer sang:

"Ohhhhh, say can you seeee ... by the ah, um, er, light...."

We also doubt anyone would realize it if Al DeRogatis cried, "'O.J. Simpson has just scored the 33rd home run of his career.'"

Television news seems to be a biggie when it comes to watching, but not listening carefully. Take President Ford's China trip, for example. Who'd really notice if the anchorman said:

"White House spokesman Ron Ziegler described the talks as frank, cordial and silly."

Well, maybe a few viewers would. But we'd bet they're so swamped with stories about Fun City's financial mess they wouldn't notice it if John Chancellor reported:

"New York City officials told President Ford today their city is on the verge of fiscal stability unless the government acts soon."

Maybe we should lay off this business about viewers who watch but don't listen carefully. Otherwise, Walter Cronkite may test such suspicions at the end of his newscast tonight by saying:

"And that's the way it is, Monday, December 8, 1941...."

The office of the attorney general was created Sept. 24, 1789.

The city of New Orleans was founded in 1718 by the Sieur de Bienville and was named for the Duke of Orleans. Four years later it became the capital of the French colony of Louisiana.

President Proclaims China Trip 'Beneficial'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford turns his attention to domestic matters this week after proclaiming his Asian trip "beneficial" and indicating that plans are in the works for a trip to the Mideast.

Ford returned to the White House early this morning after a 27,000-mile trip that he said contained "no minuses and many, many pluses." He climaxed his journey in Honolulu with a declaration of a six-point "Pacific Doctrine" for U.S. foreign policy and held out the possibility of future U.S. friendship with Vietnam and Cambodia.

Chatting with reporters just before his jet landed at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Ford was asked if he felt it had been necessary for him to personally make the long journey to China, he replied: "The discussions we had in Peking were mandatory at my level."

Ford said he felt the talks in Indonesia and the Philippines also needed to be conducted at the heads-of-government level.

A reporter, mindful of rumors that Ford now plans to travel to the Mideast early next year, asked about any such plans.

"There are no definite plans," the President replied. But he added that he probably would go to the Mideast "at some point."

Ford said he found his talks in Peking, Jakarta and Manila were "very substantively beneficial."

Ford flew home from Honolulu where he chose the anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor to reveal his "Pacific Doctrine" in a speech in Honolulu.

"The first premise of a new Pacific doctrine is that American strength is basic to any stable balance of power in the Pacific," Ford said. And, noting Japan's transition from enemy to friend, the President held out the chance of U.S. friendship for Cambodia and Vietnam, saying:

"Our policies toward the new regimes on the (Indochinese) peninsula will be determined by their conduct toward us. We are prepared to reciprocate goodwill — particularly the return of the remains of Americans killed or missing in action, or information about them. If they exhibit restraint toward their neighbors and constructive approaches to international problems, we will look to the future rather than the past."

Back in the capital, Ford is facing decisions on a variety of issues and is expected to sign a bill to provide emergency assistance to help solve New York's fiscal crisis.

Congress is still struggling with tax and energy measures which could draw another pair of presidential vetoes.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb has urged approval of the energy bill which would temporarily lower oil prices, but some conservatives oppose the measure and Ford's campaign director, Howard H. Callaway suggested Sunday that the President might be well advised politically to veto the measure.

Callaway also suggested a veto of the tax measure where Ford is insisting that spending cuts be tacked onto tax reductions and Congress is resisting the idea.

On Sunday the President visited two memorials of World War II, going first to Corregidor in the Philippines and then crossing the international date-line for a morning stop at Pearl Harbor.

The President proclaimed his Pacific doctrine in a speech at the East-West Center at the University of Hawaii, where he said "the healing effects of time are required" in Indochina.

In addition to considering American strength basic to the balance of power in the Pacific, Ford listed these other tenets of his doctrine:

— "Peace in Asia requires a structure of economic cooperation reflecting the aspirations of all the people in the region."

— "Peace in Asia depends upon a

China Disappointed By Ford's Visit?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Chinese were disappointed in President Ford's visit and the absence of a communique indicates their displeasure, a professor of Chinese history says.

Ford and Chinese officials downplayed the significance of not issuing a communique following the four-day visit by saying it would be superficial and meaningless. "It's a polite way of avoiding an issue," said Samuel C. Chu, director of East Asian Studies at Ohio State University.

Chu said in an interview that Chinese officials had hoped for establishment of full relations by 1975 following former President Nixon's visit in 1972.

Nixon's seven-day visit in February 1972 was followed by the "Shanghai Communique," which spelled out terms under which China and the United States would seek to broaden cultural, trade and diplomatic ties.

"Peking had hoped for diplomatic relations by the time when the 1972 communique was issued," Chu said.

"The Chinese are undoubtedly disappointed."

Road Name Changes Approved

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday approved the name changes of 13 roads in the county following a public hearing. The changes were made in conjunction with the county wide house numbering project.

Three persons objected to the shortening of the Hayesville-Adelphi Road to Hayesville Road. However, a petition containing over 60 signatures had requested the change which was approved.

Other changes approved by commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous were:

Portion of Westfall-Kinderhook Road from Route 22 to Route 138 to Kinderhook Road, portion from Route 138 to Route 104 to Hickory Bend Road; Darbyville-Palestine Road to Drummond Road; Harrisburg-Darbyville Road to Darby Creek Road; Darbyville-Columbus Road to Matville Road; Dennis-McCord - Borror Road from Lane Road to and including Durrett Road to Durrett Road, the portion from Hiner Road to Durrett Road to McCord Road, and the portion from Commercial Point to Howell Road to Borror Road; Howell Road to Borror Road; County Road 511 to North Court Street, Smith Road to Burro Lane, Graham-Gochenour Road to Graham Road.

Pauline Roese, Pickaway County Welfare Director, delivered the deed for the home in which the welfare department is located to the commissioners.

Ten years ago commissioners borrowed funds from The Second National Bank to acquire the property. The loan was paid off last month, largely through state and federal subsidy payments. Commissioners invested $7,000 in the property at the time of the purchase.

A letter of agreement was sent to South Bloomfield officials noting that if the county creates a sewer district adjacent to the village, the new sewer district will use the village facilities.

A hearing will be held 7:30 p.m. tonight in Common Pleas Court Room concerning community develop block grants. Greg Bigam, federal coordinator for the commissioners will be in charge of the hearing.

WALNUT MEATS

HOLIDAY WALNUT CHEESE BALL

What you will need
1 1/2 Cups of Chopped Walnuts
2 3 oz Pkgs. of Kroger Dried Chipped Chopped
Corned Beef
8 3 oz Pkgs. Kroger Cream Cheese
1 Candied Cherry

How to Prepare
Let the Cream Cheese set out at room temperature (this allows for it to soften) for 1 hour. When this is soft enough to mold with your hands, combine all 8 pkgs. in a small mixing bowl. Next, tear the Dried Beef with your hands and mold this into the cheese ball. (Form a rounded shape.) Chopped Walnuts should be dry and sprinkled on top of a clean counter surface. (Or cutting on top of a clean counter surface.) Roll the cheese ball on top of the walnuts until you cannot see the Cream Cheese. Top with a candied cherry.

NOTE: Minced onion may be added to cheese while it is still in mixing bowl. This will give it a tangy flavor.

Allow Cheese Ball to firm up by leaving in refrigerator for 1 1/2 Hours before serving. Spread on top of a Wheat cracker or on to finger sandwiches.
